

Language acquisition guide

For use from September 2014 or January 2015

International Baccalaureate®
Baccalauréat International
Bachillerato Internacional

Language acquisition guide

For use from September 2014 or January 2015

Middle Years Programme

Language acquisition guide

Published May 2014

Published on behalf of the International Baccalaureate Organization, a not-for-profit educational foundation of 15 Route des Morillons, 1218 Le Grand-Saconnex, Geneva, Switzerland by the

International Baccalaureate Organization (UK) Ltd
Peterson House, Malthouse Avenue, Cardiff Gate
Cardiff, Wales CF23 8GL
United Kingdom
Website: www.ibo.org

© International Baccalaureate Organization 2014

The International Baccalaureate Organization (known as the IB) offers four high-quality and challenging educational programmes for a worldwide community of schools, aiming to create a better, more peaceful world. This publication is one of a range of materials produced to support these programmes.

The IB may use a variety of sources in its work and checks information to verify accuracy and authenticity, particularly when using community-based knowledge sources such as Wikipedia. The IB respects the principles of intellectual property and makes strenuous efforts to identify and obtain permission before publication from rights holders of all copyright material used. The IB is grateful for permissions received for material used in this publication and will be pleased to correct any errors or omissions at the earliest opportunity.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, without the prior written permission of the IB, or as expressly permitted by law or by the IB's own rules and policy. See <http://www.ibo.org/copyright>.

IB merchandise and publications can be purchased through the IB store at <http://store.ibo.org>.

Email: sales@ibo.org

Published through a generous donation from Sinarmas World Academy and Jakarta World Academy, Indonesia.

IB mission statement

The International Baccalaureate aims to develop inquiring, knowledgeable and caring young people who help to create a better and more peaceful world through intercultural understanding and respect.

To this end the organization works with schools, governments and international organizations to develop challenging programmes of international education and rigorous assessment.

These programmes encourage students across the world to become active, compassionate and lifelong learners who understand that other people, with their differences, can also be right.

IB learner profile

The aim of all IB programmes is to develop internationally minded people who, recognizing their common humanity and shared guardianship of the planet, help to create a better and more peaceful world.

As IB learners we strive to be:

INQUIRERS

We nurture our curiosity, developing skills for inquiry and research. We know how to learn independently and with others. We learn with enthusiasm and sustain our love of learning throughout life.

KNOWLEDGEABLE

We develop and use conceptual understanding, exploring knowledge across a range of disciplines. We engage with issues and ideas that have local and global significance.

THINKERS

We use critical and creative thinking skills to analyse and take responsible action on complex problems. We exercise initiative in making reasoned, ethical decisions.

COMMUNICATORS

We express ourselves confidently and creatively in more than one language and in many ways. We collaborate effectively, listening carefully to the perspectives of other individuals and groups.

PRINCIPLED

We act with integrity and honesty, with a strong sense of fairness and justice, and with respect for the dignity and rights of people everywhere. We take responsibility for our actions and their consequences.

OPEN-MINDED

We critically appreciate our own cultures and personal histories, as well as the values and traditions of others. We seek and evaluate a range of points of view, and we are willing to grow from the experience.

CARING

We show empathy, compassion and respect. We have a commitment to service, and we act to make a positive difference in the lives of others and in the world around us.

RISK-TAKERS

We approach uncertainty with forethought and determination; we work independently and cooperatively to explore new ideas and innovative strategies. We are resourceful and resilient in the face of challenges and change.

BALANCED

We understand the importance of balancing different aspects of our lives—intellectual, physical, and emotional—to achieve well-being for ourselves and others. We recognize our interdependence with other people and with the world in which we live.

REFLECTIVE

We thoughtfully consider the world and our own ideas and experience. We work to understand our strengths and weaknesses in order to support our learning and personal development.

The IB learner profile represents 10 attributes valued by IB World Schools. We believe these attributes, and others like them, can help individuals and groups become responsible members of local, national and global communities.

Contents

| | |
|---|-----------|
| Introduction | 1 |
| Purpose of this guide | 1 |
| Language acquisition in the MYP | 2 |
| Programme model | 2 |
| Nature of language acquisition | 4 |
| Language acquisition across the IB continuum | 5 |
| Aims | 7 |
| Objectives | 8 |
| Planning a progression of learning | 11 |
| Interdisciplinary learning | 16 |
| MYP projects | 17 |
| Written and taught curriculum | 18 |
| Requirements | 18 |
| Planning the language acquisition curriculum | 20 |
| Teaching and learning through inquiry | 36 |
| Subject-specific guidance | 42 |
| Assessed curriculum | 47 |
| Alignment of objectives and criteria | 47 |
| Assessment criteria overview | 48 |
| Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 1 | 49 |
| Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 2 | 56 |
| Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 3 | 64 |
| Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 4 | 71 |
| Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 5 | 79 |
| Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 6 | 86 |
| eAssessment | 93 |
| Appendices | 94 |
| Related concepts in language acquisition | 94 |
| Language acquisition glossary | 96 |
| MYP command terms for language acquisition | 102 |
| Selected reading | 103 |

Purpose of this guide

This guide is for use from September 2014 or January 2015, depending on the start of the school year.

This document provides the framework for teaching and learning in language acquisition in the Middle Years Programme (MYP) and must be read and used in conjunction with the document MYP: From principles into practice (May 2014), which includes:

- general information about the programme
- the MYP unit planner, with guidance for developing the curriculum that is relevant for all subject groups
- detailed information about approaches to learning
- advice that supports access and inclusion (including accommodations for students with learning support requirements)
- a statement on academic honesty.

In MYP subject guides, requirements appear in a text box like this one.

Additional resources

Teacher support materials (TSM) are available in the online curriculum centre (<http://occ.ibo.org>). The TSM for language acquisition contains support for developing the written, taught and assessed curriculum. It provides examples of good practice; including subject group overviews, assessment tasks and markschemes, as well as student work with teacher comments.

An optional process of externally moderated assessment can lead to MYP results for language acquisition, and these results can contribute to the awarding of an MYP certificate. More information is available in the annual publication Handbook of procedures for the Middle Years Programme.

A range of publications that support the MYP are available at the IB store (<http://store.ibo.org>).

Acknowledgment

The IB gratefully acknowledges the generous contributions of IB World Schools and a global community of educators who collaborate in the development of the MYP.

Programme model

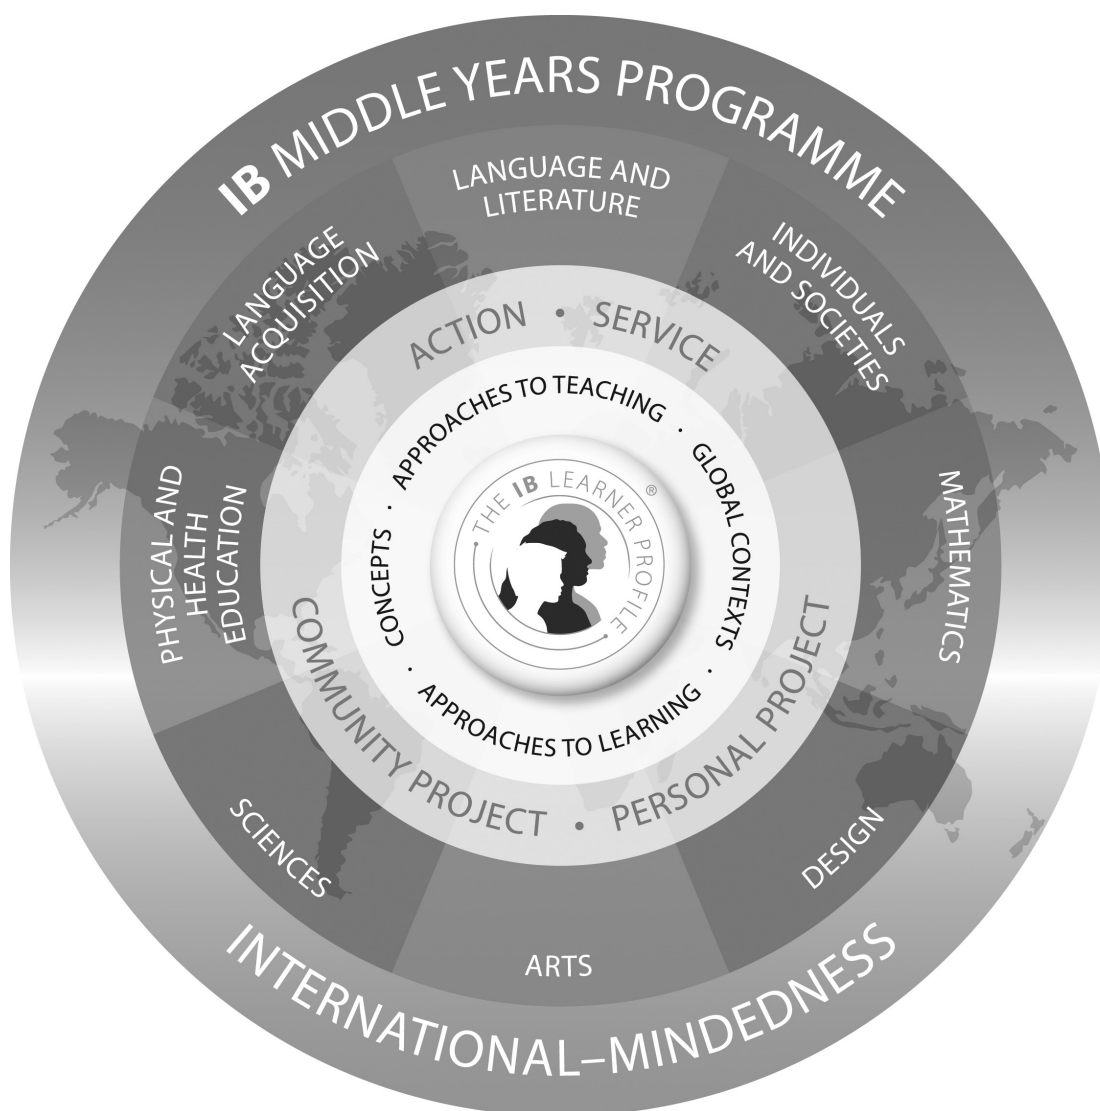

Figure 1
Middle Years Programme model

The MYP is designed for students aged 11 to 16. It provides a framework of learning that encourages students to become creative, critical and reflective thinkers. The MYP emphasizes intellectual challenge, encouraging students to make connections between their studies in traditional subjects and the real world. It fosters the development of skills for communication, intercultural understanding and global engagement—essential qualities for young people who are becoming global leaders.

The MYP is flexible enough to accommodate the demands of most national or local curriculums. It builds upon the knowledge, skills and attitudes developed in the IB Primary Years Programme (PYP) and prepares students to meet the academic challenges of the IB Diploma Programme (DP) and the IB Career-related Certificate (IBCC).

The MYP:

- addresses holistically students' intellectual, social, emotional and physical well-being
- provides students with opportunities to develop the knowledge, attitudes and skills they need in order to manage complexity and take responsible action for the future
- ensures breadth and depth of understanding through study in eight subject groups
- requires the study of at least two languages to support students in understanding their own cultures and those of others
- empowers students to participate in service with the community
- helps to prepare students for further education, the workplace and a lifetime of learning.

Nature of language acquisition

Learning to speak another's language means taking one's place in the human community. It means reaching out to others across cultural and linguistic boundaries. Language is far more than a system to be explained. It is our most important link to the world around us. Language is culture in motion. It is people interacting with people.

Savignon (1983)

The ability to communicate in a variety of modes in more than one language is essential to the concept of an international education that promotes multilingualism and intercultural understanding, both of which are central to the IB's mission.

The study of additional languages in the MYP provides students with the opportunity to develop insights into the features, processes and craft of language and the concept of culture, and to realize that there are diverse ways of living, behaving and viewing the world.

The acquisition of the language of a community and the possibilities to reflect upon and explore cultural perspectives of our own and other communities:

- is valued as central to developing critical thinking, and is considered essential for the cultivation of intercultural awareness and the development of internationally minded and responsible members of local, national and global communities
- is integral to exploring and sustaining personal development and cultural identity, and provides an intellectual framework to support conceptual development
- greatly contributes to the holistic development of students and to the strengthening of lifelong learning skills
- equips students with the necessary multiliteracy skills and attitudes, enabling them to communicate successfully in various global contexts and build intercultural understanding.

To assist in achieving these broader goals, this guide provides both teachers and students with clear aims and objectives for MYP language acquisition, as well as details of internal assessment requirements.

Language acquisition across the IB continuum

MYP language acquisition builds on experiences in language learning that students have gained during their early years. In IB World Schools offering the PYP, all students have the opportunity to learn more than one language from at least the age of 7. In the MYP, students learn at least two languages and are encouraged to learn more. Knowledge, conceptual understanding and skills will have been developed in the PYP through transdisciplinary units of inquiry or independent language inquiry. The six skill areas in PYP language—listening, speaking, reading, writing, viewing and presenting—are further developed through the MYP years. Students wishing to continue on to the DP will be grounded in at least one additional language, and will have developed an inquiring, reflective approach to language learning.

The DP offers a comprehensive range of language courses in two groups.

- Group 1—studies in language and literature
- Group 2—language acquisition

Students may study one group 1 and one group 2 subject, or two group 1 subjects. The MYP language acquisition subject group and the DP group 2 courses share some common aims, namely to:

- encourage students to gain competence in an additional language with the long-term goal of multilingualism
- enable students to develop lifelong learning skills
- encourage students to develop an awareness and understanding of the perspectives of people from other cultures.

Language acquisition in the MYP aims to develop a respect for, and understanding of, other languages and cultures, and is equally designed to equip the student with a skills base to facilitate further language learning.

In all four IB programmes, language learning is recognized as a developmental process in which students have opportunities to build on prior knowledge and skills in order to help them progress to the next phase of language development.

The MYP structures additional language learning in phases so that the complexity and range of language profiles that students bring to their MYP classroom is acknowledged and fostered. Students beginning their MYP studies may have exited from any of the five phases of PYP language or may have no prior knowledge or experience of the language to be studied in the MYP.

The pathways to further study are multiple. Phases 4, 5 and 6 allow for a smooth transition from MYP language acquisition courses to DP group 2 courses—and, for a number of students, to group 1 courses. The MYP framework for the language acquisition subject group reflects the concepts and skills of the presumed knowledge for these DP courses.

MYP students continuing on to the DP will have developed not only an inquiring and reflective approach to language learning but also multiliteracy skills that they will be able to apply and extend in their DP language courses.

MYP language acquisition courses should be planned with consideration of the students' possible pathways to the DP and further study. In IB World Schools that also offer the DP and/or the IBCC, the courses should provide clear pathways to the specific language courses on offer. By the end of the MYP language acquisition course, students should be empowered for success in further formal study of languages. The knowledge, skills and attitudes that students develop in language acquisition courses provide a meaningful foundation for these further studies and the world of work in global economies and international business.

For a comprehensive outline of the continuum of language and learning within the four IB programmes, as well as a common pedagogy for language and learning, please see Language and learning in IB programmes (updated August 2012).

Table 1 shows the IB continuum pathways from MYP through to DP studies in language.

Note: This is an indication only—it is up to schools to decide the minimum requirements for progression from MYP to DP language courses.

| | MYP | DP |
|---------|--|--|
| Phase 1 | | Ab initio |
| Phase 2 | | Ab initio (in rare cases) Language B SL |
| Phase 3 | | Language B SL |
| Phase 4 | | Language B SL/HL |
| Phase 5 | | Language B SL/HL |
| Phase 5 | It is recommended the student has at least one semester in MYP language and literature before starting these DP courses. | Language A: literature SL Language A: language and literature SL Literature and performance SL |
| Phase 6 | It is recommended the student has at least one semester in MYP language and literature before starting these DP courses. | Language A: literature SL/HL Language A: language and literature SL/HL Literature and performance SL |

Table 1
IB continuum pathways

Aims

The aims of all MYP subjects state what a teacher may expect to teach and what a student may expect to experience and learn. These aims suggest how the student may be changed by the learning experience.

An overarching aim of teaching and learning languages is to enable the student to become a critical and competent communicator.

The aims of the teaching and learning of MYP language acquisition are to:

- gain proficiency in an additional language while supporting maintenance of their mother tongue and cultural heritage
- develop a respect for, and understanding of, diverse linguistic and cultural heritages
- develop the student's communication skills necessary for further language learning, and for study, work and leisure in a range of authentic contexts and for a variety of audiences and purposes
- enable the student to develop multiliteracy skills through the use of a range of learning tools, such as multimedia, in the various modes of communication
- enable the student to develop an appreciation of a variety of literary and non-literary texts and to develop critical and creative techniques for comprehension and construction of meaning
- enable the student to recognize and use language as a vehicle of thought, reflection, self-expression and learning in other subjects, and as a tool for enhancing literacy
- enable the student to understand the nature of language and the process of language learning, which comprises the integration of linguistic, cultural and social components
- offer insight into the cultural characteristics of the communities where the language is spoken
- encourage an awareness and understanding of the perspectives of people from own and other cultures, leading to involvement and action in own and other communities
- foster curiosity, inquiry and a lifelong interest in, and enjoyment of, language learning.

Objectives

In the context of the language acquisition subject group framework, to be multiliterate is defined as being able to understand and use print-based and digital spoken, written and visual text. Meaning in text is constructed and presented in linguistic mode but also in visual, auditory, gestural and spatial mode (Evans et al. 2008a: 2). These various modes must all be understood in combination with each other and are increasingly combined to construct meaning. The current generation of students are required to integrate a variety of literacy skills and to have an awareness of increasingly complex and diverse linguistic and cultural contexts in which to communicate and negotiate meaning. Therefore, to be multiliterate not only requires an understanding of spoken, written and visual text but also an understanding of the interplay of these various modes in a text.

The objectives of any MYP subject state the specific targets that are set for learning in the subject. They define what the student will be able to accomplish as a result of studying the subject.

The objectives of MYP language acquisition encompass the factual, conceptual, procedural and metacognitive dimensions of knowledge. The student's knowledge and understanding will be developed through:

- learning language
- learning through language
- learning about language (Halliday 1985).

This, in turn, helps students learn how to learn. The cognitive, linguistic and sociocultural aspects of communication are intertwined in each of the four objectives. The student is expected to develop the competencies to communicate appropriately, accurately and effectively in an increasing range of social, cultural and academic contexts, and for an increasing variety of purposes.

"Processes are what help mediate the construction of new knowledge and understandings and play an especially important role in language and communication." (Lanning 2013: 19). They are designed to enable students to become multiliterate by developing their oral literacy (oracy), visual literacy (visuacy) and written literacy (literacy).

The language acquisition subject group objectives represent some of the essential processes of language and have been organized under the same four communicative processes for each of the six phases in order to assist teachers with planning, teaching and assessing. They are as follows.

- A Comprehending spoken and visual text
- B Comprehending written and visual text
- C Communicating in response to spoken, written and visual text
- D Using language in spoken and written form

In order to meet these objectives, teachers will need to concentrate on each of the macro-skills of language: listening, speaking, reading, writing, viewing and interpreting. These skills are very much interactive and interrelated, though in some instances teachers may wish to deal with them as discrete skills.

The objectives for the six phases of the language acquisition subject group are provided in this guide and their use is mandatory. When planning units of work, the objectives specific to the phase should be referenced.

Each objective is elaborated by a number of strands; a strand is an aspect or indicator of the learning expectation. The strands are subsets of each whole objective and must be considered when planning, teaching, assessing and reporting on the student's language development and communicative competence. These aspects focus on purpose, context, language control and accuracy.

All strands in each objective should be addressed through the units planned for each phase of the course, at a conceptually and linguistically appropriate level for that phase. All strands of the unit's objectives should also be addressed in the task(s) that are part of that unit.

The objectives for each phase relate directly to the assessment criteria for the corresponding phase and are found in the "Assessed curriculum" section of this guide.

Subject groups must address all strands of all four objectives at least twice in each year of the MYP.

A Comprehending spoken and visual text

Comprehending spoken and visual text encompasses aspects of listening and viewing, and involves the student in interpreting and constructing meaning from spoken and visual text to understand how images presented with oral text interplay to convey ideas, values and attitudes. Engaging with text requires the student to think creatively and critically about what is viewed, and to be aware of opinions, attitudes and cultural references presented in the visual text. The student might, for example, reflect on feelings and actions, imagine himself or herself in another's situation, gain new perspectives and develop empathy, based on what he or she has understood in the text.

As appropriate to the phase, the student is expected to be able to:

- listen for specific purposes and respond to show understanding
- interpret visual text that is presented with spoken text
- engage with the text by supporting opinion and personal response with evidence and examples from the text.

B Comprehending written and visual text

Comprehending written and visual text encompasses aspects of reading and viewing, and involves the student in constructing meaning and interpreting written and visual text to understand how images presented with written text interplay to convey ideas, values and attitudes. Engaging with text requires the student to think creatively and critically about what is read and viewed, and to be aware of opinions, attitudes and cultural references presented in the written and/or visual text. The student might, for example, reflect on feelings and actions, imagine himself or herself in another's situation, gain new perspectives and develop empathy, based on what he or she has understood in the text.

As appropriate to the phase, the student is expected to be able to:

- read for specific purposes and respond to show understanding
- interpret visual text that is presented with written text
- engage with the text by supporting opinion and personal response with evidence and examples from the text.

C Communicating in response to spoken, written and visual text

In the language acquisition classroom, students will have opportunities to develop their communication skills by interacting on a range of topics of personal, local and global interest and significance, and responding to spoken, written and visual text in the target language.

As appropriate to the phase, the student is expected to be able to:

- interact and communicate in various situations
- express thoughts, feelings, ideas, opinions and information in spoken and written form
- speak and write for specific purposes.

D Using language in spoken and written form

This objective relates to the correct and appropriate use of the spoken and written target language. It involves recognizing and using language suitable to the audience and purpose, for example, the language used at home, the language of the classroom, formal and informal exchanges, social and academic language. When speaking and writing in the target language, students apply their understanding of linguistic and literary concepts to develop a variety of structures, strategies (spelling, grammar, plot, character, punctuation, voice) and techniques with increasing skill and effectiveness.

As appropriate to the phase, the student is expected to be able to:

- organize thoughts, feelings, ideas, opinions and information in spoken and written form
- develop accuracy when speaking and writing in the target language.

Planning a progression of learning

Teaching and learning in the language acquisition subject group is organized into six phases. The phases represent a developmental continuum of additional language learning. Depending on their prior additional language-learning experiences, students may commence their language acquisition course in any phase on the continuum and may exit from any phase on the continuum.

Phase-specific language acquisition objectives

| | Phase 1 | Phase 2 | Phase 3 | Phase 4 | Phase 5 | Phase 6 |
|--------------------|--|--|---|--|---|---|
| | In order to reach the aims of language acquisition, students should be able to: | In order to reach the aims of language acquisition, students should be able to: | In order to reach the aims of language acquisition, students should be able to: | In order to reach the aims of language acquisition, students should be able to: | In order to reach the aims of language acquisition, students should be able to: | In order to reach the aims of language acquisition, students should be able to: |
| Objective A | | | | | | |
| i. | identify basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details in everyday situations | show understanding of messages, main ideas and supporting details in familiar situations | show understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions in familiar and some unfamiliar situations | construct meaning and draw conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details in familiar and unfamiliar situations | analyse and draw conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details in social and some academic situations | evaluate and draw conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details in social and academic situations |
| ii. | recognize basic conventions | recognize basic conventions | understand conventions | interpret conventions | analyse conventions | interpret the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose |

| | Phase 1 | Phase 2 | Phase 3 | Phase 4 | Phase 5 | Phase 6 |
|--------------------|---|---|---|---|---|--|
| iii. | engage with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. | engage with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. | engage with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. | engage with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. | engage with the spoken and visual text by analysing ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. | engage with the spoken and visual text by evaluating ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. |
| Objective B | | | | | | |
| i. | identify basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details | identify basic facts, main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions | show understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions | construct meaning by identifying stated and implied information, main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions | analyse and draw conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details | evaluate and draw conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details |
| ii. | recognize basic aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing | recognize basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing | understand basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing | interpret basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing | analyse basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing | interpret the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose |
| iii. | engage with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. | engage with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. | engage with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. | engage with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. | engage with the written and visual text by analysing ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. | engage with the written and visual text by evaluating ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. |

| | Phase 1 | Phase 2 | Phase 3 | Phase 4 | Phase 5 | Phase 6 |
|--------------------|--|--|--|--|--|---|
| Objective C | | | | | | |
| i. | respond appropriately to simple short phrases | respond appropriately to spoken, written and visual text in a limited range of familiar situations | respond appropriately to spoken, written and visual text in a range of familiar and some unfamiliar situations | respond appropriately to spoken, written and visual text in a range of familiar and unfamiliar situations | respond appropriately to spoken, written and visual text in a range of social and some academic situations | respond appropriately to spoken, written and visual text in a wide range of social and academic situations |
| ii. | interact in simple and rehearsed exchanges, using verbal and non-verbal language | interact in basic structured exchanges on a limited variety of aspects within familiar situations | interact in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges on a limited variety of aspects within familiar and some unfamiliar situations | engage in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges to share ideas on topics of personal and global significance | engage in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges to share ideas on a range of topics of personal and global significance | engage in unrehearsed and complex exchanges on a wide range of topics of personal and global significance |
| iii. | use basic phrases to communicate ideas, feelings and information on a variety of aspects of everyday topics | use phrases to communicate ideas, feelings and information in familiar situations | express ideas and feelings, and communicate information in familiar and some unfamiliar situations | express ideas and feelings, and communicate information in simple and complex texts in familiar and unfamiliar situations | express ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicate information in a wide range of situations | express a wide range of ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicate information in a wide range of social and academic contexts |
| iv. | communicate with a sense of audience. | communicate with a sense of audience. | communicate with a sense of audience and purpose. | communicate with a sense of audience and purpose. | communicate with a sense of register, purpose and style. | communicate with a sense of register, purpose and style. |
| Objective D | | | | | | |
| i. | write and speak using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use clear pronunciation and intonation | write and speak using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use clear pronunciation and intonation | write and speak using a range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use clear pronunciation and intonation | write and speak using a range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use clear pronunciation and intonation | write and speak using a range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use intonation and fluency | write and speak using a wide range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, uses oratory technique |

| | Phase 1 | Phase 2 | Phase 3 | Phase 4 | Phase 5 | Phase 6 |
|------|--|--|--|---|--|--|
| ii. | organize basic information and use a range of basic cohesive devices | organize information and ideas and use a range of basic cohesive devices | organize information and ideas and use a range of basic cohesive devices | organize information and ideas into a structured text; use a wide range of cohesive devices | organize information and ideas; use a wide range of cohesive devices | organize information and ideas; use a wide range of cohesive devices |
| iii. | use language to suit the context. | use language to suit the context. | use language to suit the context. | use language to suit the context. | use language to suit the context. | use language to suit the context. |

Progression along the continuum

For the purpose of planning, teaching and assessment, the language acquisition objectives are also mapped on continuums to show clearly the expectations for each phase. Learning targets have been set for each phase, and underneath the expectations are examples of what constitutes evidence to indicate the student is ready to progress to the next phase of learning.

As students progress through the six phases, they are expected to develop the competencies to communicate appropriately and effectively in an increasing range of social, cultural and academic contexts, and for an increasing variety of audiences and purposes. This is demonstrated by:

- the variety and sophistication of vocabulary and structures used
- the scope of situations in which the language is used
- the increasing length of text spoken, read and written
- the increasing complexity of text spoken, viewed, read and written
- the increasing variety of forms of both fiction and non-fiction handled.

As students develop their understanding, increasing cognitive and skills demands are also set. These are expressed as command terms. Table 2 illustrates this progression along the additional language learning continuum.

| Phase 1 | Phase 2 | Phase 3 | Phase 4 | Phase 5 | Phase 6 |
|---|--|--|--|---|---|
| In a limited range of everyday situations | In a limited range of familiar situations | In familiar and some unfamiliar situations | In familiar and unfamiliar situations | In social situations and some academic situations | In social and academic situations |
| Some aspects of register | Some aspects of register | Appropriate register | Appropriate register | Appropriate register | Appropriate register |
| A very limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts | A limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts | A limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts | A range of interpersonal and cultural contexts | A range of interpersonal and cultural contexts | A wide range of interpersonal and cultural contexts |

| Phase 1 | Phase 2 | Phase 3 | Phase 4 | Phase 5 | Phase 6 |
|--|--|---|-----------------------------|---|-----------------------|
| Use basic vocabulary | Use basic language | Use language accurately | Use language accurately | Use language accurately and effectively | Use oratory technique |
| Simple short texts | Simple texts | A limited range of texts | A range of texts | A range of texts | A wide range of texts |
| Interact in simple and rehearsed exchanges | Interact in basic rehearsed and some unrehearsed exchanges | Interact in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges | Engage actively | Engage actively | Engage actively |
| Understand and respond | Understand and respond | Understand and respond | Interpret and respond | Analyse and respond | Evaluate and respond |
| Identify and recognize | Recognize and understand | Understand | Construct meaning/interpret | Construct meaning/analyse | Evaluate |

Table 2
Progression along the additional language learning continuum

Interdisciplinary learning

Interdisciplinary teaching and learning is grounded in individual subject groups and disciplines, but extends disciplinary understanding in ways that are:

- integrative—bringing together concepts, methods, or modes of communication from two or more subject groups, disciplines or established areas of expertise to develop new perspectives
- purposeful—connecting disciplines to solve real-world problems, create products or address complex issues in ways that would have been unlikely through a single approach.

Interdisciplinary teaching and learning builds a connected curriculum that addresses the developmental needs of students in the MYP. It prepares students for further academic (inter)disciplinary study and for life in an increasingly interconnected world.

The MYP uses concepts and contexts as starting points for meaningful integration and transfer of knowledge across subject groups and disciplines. Fostering interdisciplinary teaching and learning in MYP schools (2014) contains more information, including a detailed process for planning and recording interdisciplinary units.

MYP schools are responsible for engaging students in at least one collaboratively planned interdisciplinary unit for each year of the programme.

Language acquisition offers many opportunities for interdisciplinary teaching and learning. Possible interdisciplinary units in this subject group could include inquiries into:

- visual and performing art forms from the culture of the language being studied (arts)
- interactive multimedia products that can be used to communicate linguistic concepts (design)
- sports and games from the culture of the language being studied (physical and health education)
- the interpretation of concepts such as time, place and space in the cultural context of the language being studied (individuals and societies).

Interdisciplinary learning can take place through large- and small-scale learning engagements. Authentic interdisciplinary learning often requires critical reflection and detailed collaborative planning. However, teachers and students can also make interdisciplinary connections through spontaneous learning experiences and conversations.

All MYP subject group teachers are responsible for developing meaningful ongoing opportunities for interdisciplinary teaching and learning.

MYP projects

The MYP community project (for students in years 3 or 4) and MYP personal project (for students in year 5) aim to encourage and enable sustained inquiry within a global context that generates new insights and deeper understanding. In these culminating experiences, students develop confidence as principled, lifelong learners. They grow in their ability to consider their own learning, communicate effectively and take pride in their accomplishments.

Courses in language acquisition help students to develop key approaches to learning (ATL) that lead to success and enjoyment in the MYP projects. In language acquisition, students have important opportunities to practise ATL skills, especially communication skills. Being able to read for comprehension, and critically, are essential aspects of language acquisition.

Language acquisition offers many opportunities for learning through action. Language acquisition could inspire community projects and personal projects that have as their goal:

- to develop a series of language lessons for a self-taught language course for the target language being studied by the student
- to create an awareness campaign on an issue of personal, local or global significance and to conduct and communicate the campaign in multiple languages, including the target language being studied by the student
- to write a storybook and initiate a buddy-reading programme in the target language with younger learners in the school community
- to create a recipe book that represents the cultural heritage of the target language being studied by the student.

Requirements

MYP language acquisition is a compulsory component of the MYP in every year of the programme.

It is a requirement that schools provide sustained language learning in at least two languages for each year of the MYP.

Students must be able to study at least:

- one additional language (or a second language from the language and literature subject group) sustained across the entire year in each year of the MYP
- the same additional language in each year of the MYP, or achieve a satisfactory proficiency in phase 4 in order to transfer to another language. (It is up to each individual school to determine the grade deemed as satisfactory for the transfer to be approved.)

The IB strongly recommends that, wherever possible, students should work towards being multilingual by:

- achieving the objectives for language and literature in both languages
- maintaining and developing their mother tongue by studying it as one of the language options.

Schools must allocate the teaching hours necessary to meet the requirements of MYP language acquisition.

The MYP requires at least 50 hours of teaching time for each subject group in each year of the programme.

For students pursuing MYP results that can contribute to the awarding of the MYP certificate, language acquisition courses should include at least 70 teaching hours in each of the final two years of the programme (MYP year 4 and MYP year 5).

In practice, more time is often necessary to meet subject group aims and objectives and to provide for the sustained, concurrent teaching that enables interdisciplinary study.

Considering the objectives and standards expected for each phase in MYP language acquisition, more hours than the minimum figure per year are recommended, though this may vary depending on school location, student background and whether the additional language studied is also the language of instruction of the school. (If the language studied is not the language of instruction, schools may need to consider allocating more time.) Schools must ensure that students are given sufficient time and continuous instruction to allow them the opportunity to meet the objectives for language acquisition.

The language acquisition course should provide a linguistic and academic challenge for students in order to give them the best possible educational experience. Students should be given the opportunity to develop their language skills to their full potential, as well as the possibility of progressing through the phases over the course of the MYP.

Where there are students for whom the school's language of instruction and the language studied in the language acquisition course are additional languages, schools should provide an effective strategy to support language development. Please see the document Learning in a language other than mother tongue in IB programmes (April 2008) for further information.

In order to establish a course structure and implement the language acquisition subject group courses in the school, teachers should use their discretion when determining placement, progression and pathways for their students.

“Languages carousel” courses

The IB encourages schools to counsel students about their choices for language acquisition courses before the start of the MYP. Examples of good practice include:

- giving students a placement test to determine in which phase they will continue with language acquisition from a previous educational experience
- organizing an “Introduction to the MYP” orientation as part of the enrolment process that includes information about language acquisition courses
- setting up a “languages carousel” in the final year of primary education, during which students can experience a brief introduction to each language acquisition course offered in the MYP.

If local circumstances require, schools may offer introductory MYP language acquisition courses. If necessary, the course(s) can be structured as a “languages carousel”, under the following conditions.

- The introductory course(s) can only be offered in MYP year 1.
- The introductory course(s) must in total meet the minimum number of hours required for the subject group (50 hours).
- Each language in the carousel must have an equal number of teaching hours, and all languages ideally will be taught concurrently.
- All introductory language courses must conclude before students choose their language acquisition course for the remainder of the MYP.

After the introductory courses are completed, students must choose one of the languages from the carousel and continue with that language throughout the programme, or until they demonstrate a satisfactory proficiency in phase 4 and begin the study of another language.

Planning the language acquisition curriculum

Integrating knowledge, understanding and skills in language acquisition

When planning units of work to address the objectives in MYP language acquisition, teachers will need to detail what students will know (factual knowledge such as grammar rules, topic-specific vocabulary, cultural facts and artifacts) and what students will understand (conceptual knowledge such as the principles and big ideas arising from the subject matter studied or the features and processes of language) in order to communicate in the target language. The concepts become the building blocks students need to transfer and apply their knowledge and understanding to a variety of contexts, and to communicate this knowledge and understanding in familiar and unfamiliar situations.

The purposes and targets for learning language engage students in various productive, receptive and interactive processes of oral, visual and written communication. These processes are often carried out as interactional and transactional processes, simultaneously rather than as discrete skills. The student is receiving, constructing, creating and sharing meaning, using language to relate to others, to relate their experiences to others, as well as to communicate a message. Although teachers may plan and teach the specific skills separately and explicitly (as organized in the objectives), students will demonstrate their understanding by applying and using various language processes in combination with each other, and in a range of authentic situations, such as:

- requesting and providing information
- giving and receiving ideas and opinions
- creating and sharing a suggestion, a solution or a story
- understanding and responding to a message or an idea
- listening to, and discussing, a problem
- viewing and interpreting an idea or issue presented.

In order to meet the language acquisition subject group objectives, teachers will need to concentrate on each of the macro-skills of language—listening, speaking, reading, writing and viewing—and to ensure that units planned provide ample opportunities for students to practise and develop all these skills.

Phases

Teaching and learning in the language acquisition subject group is organized in six phases. The phases do not correspond to particular age groups or MYP years. When planning the language acquisition curriculum, teachers will need to decide the most suitable phase in which to place individual students or a group of students, as informed by the achievable exit point for the students and the language learning pathways available to the students.

It is at the school's discretion to group students in the six phases. However, it is essential to consider first and foremost a reasonable differentiation and manageable combination of proficiencies in one class. The school should take into account the demands on the teacher to concentrate on the needs of all the students and to plan appropriate teaching strategies and learning experiences for all. Teachers should take note of the following recommendations.

- Students should be grouped in no more than two consecutive phases in one class together.
- Students with no prior knowledge of the additional language they wish to study in the MYP should start in phase 1.
- In most cases, students exiting from phase 4 will have had the equivalent of at least four years of additional language learning.
- Students should spend time in the phase 5 or 6 language acquisition classroom to develop some of the foundation skills needed in the language and literature course.
- Phase 6 will not be the typical exit level for most students.

For example:

- beginner students of the language could be grouped in a phase 1 and 2 class together
- intermediate students of the language could be grouped in a phase 2 and 3 class together or a phase 3 and 4 class together
- proficient students could be grouped in a phase 4 and 5 class together or a phase 5 and 6 class together.

Schools could also decide to offer only phases 2, 4 and 6, or only phases 1, 3 and 5. This will depend on:

- whether the school has a three-, four- or five-year programme, and
- whether the students are beginners in the additional language when they start the MYP.

Teachers may find it helpful to place students in an earlier phase as a transitional step before grouping them in two broader consecutive phases. For example:

- a number of students follow phase 1 objectives and learning experiences grouped in the class with phases 2 and 3. After a period of time within the school term or semester, the phase 1 students merge with the phase 2 and 3 group.

It is possible for a student to exit the programme from any phase based on individual progress and achievement throughout each school year. Schools should choose the phase that offers the student:

- an academically challenging course
- the most opportunities to achieve in the subject
- the most suitable pathways for further study.

Placement

Placement is informed by knowledge of the student's language profile. Schools should create a language portrait template that students and their families can complete when they join the MYP. This will help language teachers and all teachers to know and understand the language background, the language experience and the language needs of the student. Schools could also design a placement test to determine the phase and/or the language courses the student will follow at the school. The language portrait could be the first document collected and collated in a language portfolio.

The language acquisition continuums and the MYP language acquisition global proficiency table (in this section) are two useful tools for grouping students in their appropriate language courses.

Progression

Once students are grouped in phases, teachers will need to plan and articulate the course vertically to ensure units of work will enable students to:

- realize the aims of learning the target language
- reach the objectives for the phase
- achieve the proficiency levels required by the phase at the point of exit from the MYP.

The language acquisition continuums will help teachers with this planning and mapping. Teachers should also consider the vertical mapping created by the school, as well as considerations from other areas of the curriculum.

Learning experiences that have been formatively assessed using the language acquisition continuums, and performances of understanding that have been summatively assessed using the assessment criteria rubrics (in the “Assessed curriculum” section), provide crucial evidence of students’ progress and achievement.

Pathways

When structuring and planning the course, teachers should keep in mind:

- the options for language learning in the DP, the IBCC or other further education
- the school’s minimum requirements for progression from school year to school year
- possible progression to MYP language and literature
- MYP certification requirements.

The language acquisition continuums, MYP language acquisition global proficiency table and assessment criteria rubrics are all important tools when considering these points.

Tools to assist in planning the language acquisition curriculum

The language acquisition continuums, the MYP language acquisition global proficiency table and the assessment criteria rubrics are essential tools for teachers to use when determining placement, marking progression and establishing language learning pathways for their students. The diagram below illustrates at what point in the process of planning, teaching and learning, and assessment these decisions will be made, and the tools that will be most helpful for teachers to use.

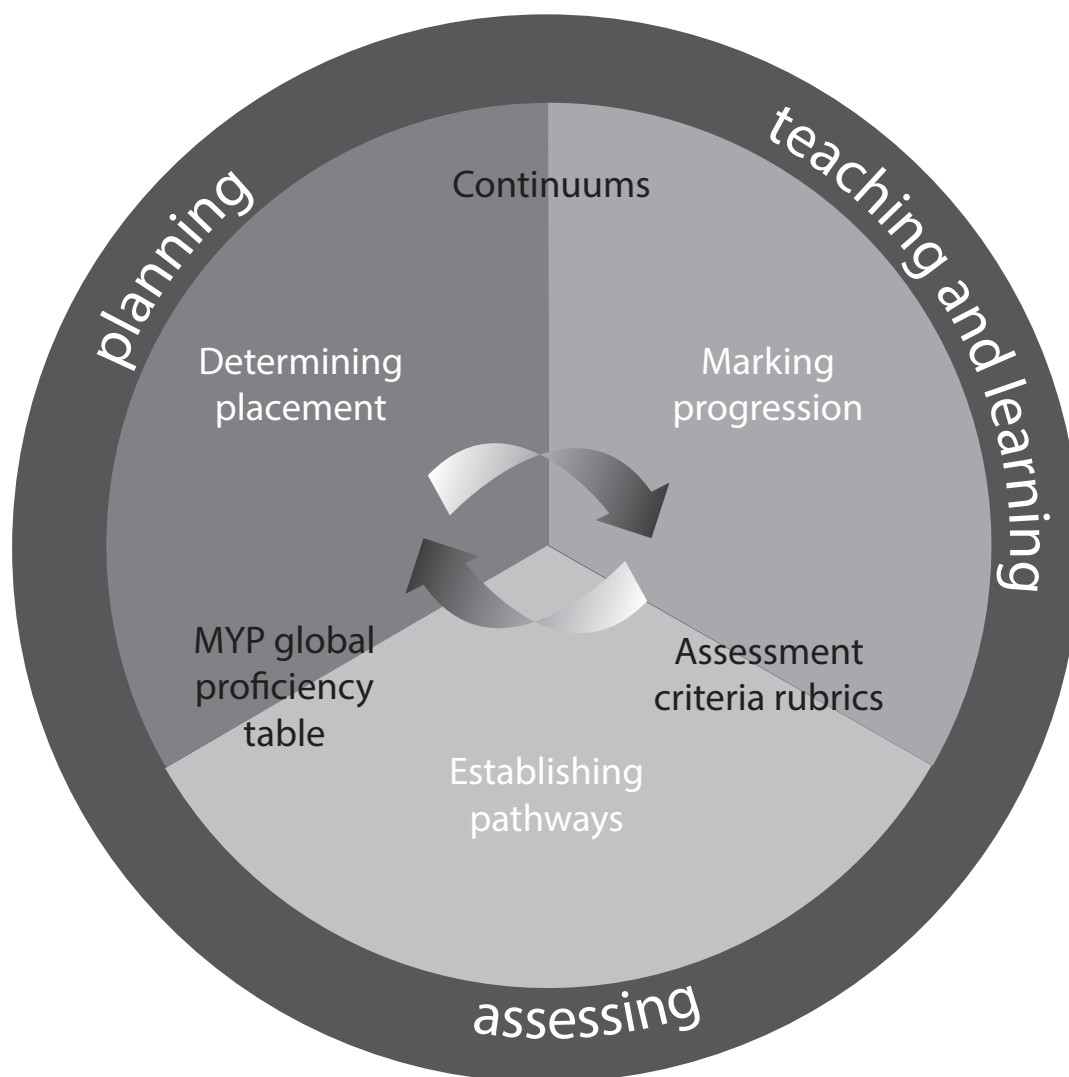

Figure 2

Tools to assist in planning the language acquisition curriculum

MYP language acquisition global proficiency table

The purpose of the MYP language acquisition global proficiency table (see Table 3 below) is to provide teachers with statements indicating the competencies expected of students in each phase of the MYP language acquisition subject group. The table provides six holistic statements describing a student's achievement against the course objectives towards being an emergent communicator, a capable communicator and a proficient communicator. The characteristics of a communicator in each phase of the course are described through a statement explaining what the student should be able to do by the end of the phase.

The MYP language acquisition global proficiency table is both a reference and a tool. It states the language acquired in a broad sense and can help teachers:

- to determine the possible language acquisition course groupings for each year of the MYP
- to identify in which phase a student or a group of students should commence their MYP language acquisition course

- to identify a realistic exit phase for a student or a group of students by the final year of the MYP (whether the school is offering a three-, four- or five-year programme), taking into consideration each school's unique context and structure
- to interpret and report on students' achievements in their language acquisition course:
 - at the end of a phase or MYP year
 - on completion of the MYP
 - when transferring to or from another school or programme.

When devising the MYP language acquisition global proficiency table, the following international standards were used as reference points.

- Council of Europe. 2001. Common European Framework of Reference for Languages: Learning, Teaching, Assessment.
- American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages. 2011. Standards for Foreign Language Learning in the 21st Century.

| Emergent communicator | | Capable communicator | | Proficient communicator | |
|--|---|---|---|---|--|
| Phase 1 | Phase 2 | Phase 3 | Phase 4 | Phase 5 | Phase 6 |
| Emergent communicators in phase 1 understand and respond to simple phrases, statements and questions. They identify basic messages, facts, opinions, feelings and ideas presented in oral, visual and written language, and demonstrate their comprehension in simple oral and written phrases. They convey basic information in a limited range of everyday situations, using oral and written language appropriate to a very limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts. They begin to be aware that language use is connected to a purpose and an audience. | Emergent communicators in phase 2 understand and respond to simple spoken and written texts. They identify messages, facts, opinions, feelings and ideas presented in oral, visual and written language, and demonstrate their comprehension in short oral and written form. They interact to share information in a limited range of familiar situations, using basic language appropriate to a limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts. They are aware that language varies according to purpose and audience. | Capable communicators in phase 3 understand and respond to a limited variety of spoken and written texts. They understand specific information, main ideas and some detail presented in oral, visual and written language, and demonstrate their comprehension in a limited range of oral and written forms. They engage in conversation and write structured text to express their ideas, opinions and experiences in a range of familiar and some unfamiliar situations, in a limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts. They understand that they can speak and write in different ways for different purposes and audiences. | Capable communicators in phase 4 understand and respond to a variety of spoken and written texts. They interpret specific information, main ideas and some detail presented in complex oral, visual and written language, draw conclusions and recognize implied opinions and attitudes. They respond and react to questions and ideas in a range of spoken, visual and written texts. They engage actively in conversations in social and some academic situations to contribute substantial information containing relevant and focused ideas supported by examples and illustrations. They organize information and ideas into a clear and effective structure to express their understanding and opinions on topics of personal interest and global significance. They interpret and are able to adapt aspects of format, register and style of language. | Proficient communicators in phase 5 analyse specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes presented in oral, visual and written language. They draw conclusions, infer information and recognize implied opinions and attitudes. They respond and react to questions and ideas in a range of spoken, visual and written texts. They engage actively in conversations in social and some academic situations to contribute substantial information containing relevant and focused ideas supported by examples and illustrations. They organize information and ideas into a clear and effective structure to express their understanding and opinions on topics of personal interest and global significance. They interpret and are able to adapt aspects of format, register and style of language. | Proficient communicators in phase 6 evaluate the important information, details and ideas presented in spoken, written and visual language in social and academic contexts. They analyse the information, draw conclusions and make inferences about ideas, opinions and attitudes implied in a wide range of spoken, visual and written texts. They engage actively in conversations in social and academic situations to contribute substantial information and give detailed analysis and explanation. They organize information and ideas logically and effectively to communicate their understanding, opinions and perspectives to a wide range of audiences, and for a variety of social and academic purposes. |

Table 3
MYP language acquisition global proficiency table

Language acquisition continuums

The IB recognizes that students in IB World Schools have rich, complex and diverse language profiles. They come to the MYP with a range and variety of language learning experiences. Students may:

- already have knowledge of another language and skills for language learning that they bring to the classroom
- have studied the additional language in their PYP or other primary curriculum and wish to continue studying the same language
- have studied an additional language in their PYP or other primary curriculum but wish to commence the study of another additional language
- be learning in the MYP in a country where the target language is the host language but not the first language of the student
- be learning in the MYP where the medium of instruction at school is the second or third language of the student
- have no previous experience of learning another language prior to starting in the MYP
- have lived in a country where the target language was spoken prior to joining the MYP
- have started in the MYP in a later year (MYP year 2, 3 or 4) and be commencing a new language or continuing with another language studied previously
- have an identified learning support requirement and require special consideration for their language learning.

Continuums as a tool for planning and monitoring progress

Continuums provide visual representations of developmental stages of learning, and can be very useful for teachers and students when applied to skills development. They show a progression of achievement and can identify where a student has reached in relation to that learning process.

MYP: From principles into practice (May 2014)

Continuums are useful as:

- a diagnostic tool, to assist teachers in planning language learning experiences and in placement of students in groups
- a formative assessment tool, to monitor and assess students' language progress
- a planning tool, to refer to when designing a unit of work.

The continuums make explicit the specific expectations in each area of communication in each phase. They state the learning targets that can be set for the students to support them to progress to the next phase. The expectations take into account the limited content, context and proficiency in the target language in the earlier phases. Learning outcomes and learning experiences should be conceptually and linguistically appropriate for that phase.

The “evidence” list is not exhaustive, nor is it a prescribed list of operations to be performed and assessed. They should be used as indicators or examples of suitable evidence to guide planning of teaching strategies and learning experiences in the unit, and through which the appropriate concepts and content will be taught. They are indicators of the types of actions, behaviours and skills students will demonstrate as evidence of the knowledge, understanding or skill acquired from the learning experiences.

The developmental phases do not reflect progressions organized by age or year of the MYP. For the reasons listed previously, a student in MYP year 5 may be studying the target language in phase 1 or in phase 6. The overall expectation is a generic statement that encapsulates the expected learning in a broad, holistic sense. This is given in each of the continuum tables that follow in this section.

The three areas of communication (oral, visual and written) are represented by four continuums.

- Listening and speaking
- Viewing and interpreting
- Reading comprehension
- Writing

Oral communication (listening and speaking) is represented on one continuum to emphasize the interactive and reciprocal aspect of this objective, while still allowing for the tracking of listening as a distinct receptive skill.

Visual interpretation is represented on one continuum to acknowledge the close connection between understanding the meaning in visual text and interpreting that meaning to convey ideas or opinions in oral or written form. The focus for this objective is to construct meaning from visual text that is presented with spoken and/or written text.

Students' learning experiences in reading comprehension and writing will involve them in analysing text, engaging with ideas and opinions in the text, structuring their ideas, responding to—and sharing—ideas and opinions, whether orally or in written form, as well as reading for enjoyment in the target language. These two complex skills are represented on separate continuums to facilitate planning and teaching the specific strategies and techniques, as well as comprehensively tracking the development of these two skills.

Listening and speaking continuum

| Phase | One | Two | Three | |
|---|--|--|--|--|
| Specific expectations for the end of the phase | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> understand and respond to simple, short spoken texts communicate information in a limited range of everyday situations request and provide information in a limited range of everyday situations use language appropriate to a very limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts use some aspects of register in formal and informal oral communication use basic vocabulary accurately interact in simple and rehearsed exchanges using comprehensible pronunciation and intonation/correct tone. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> understand and respond to simple spoken texts communicate information containing relevant ideas and some details in a limited range of familiar situations request and provide information in a limited range of familiar situations use language appropriate to a limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts use some aspects of register in formal and informal oral communication use basic language accurately interact in basic rehearsed and some unrehearsed exchanges using comprehensible pronunciation and intonation/correct tone. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> understand and respond to a limited range of spoken texts communicate information containing relevant ideas and some detail in familiar and some unfamiliar situations request and provide information in familiar and some unfamiliar situations use language appropriate to a limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts, and for a limited range of purposes and audiences use appropriate register in formal and informal oral communication use language accurately interact in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges using comprehensible pronunciation and intonation/correct tone. | |
| Evidence | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> follows classroom directions and routines understands basic phrases and expressions and uses them to interact participates in a dialogue about an everyday situation using a model uses gestures, actions, body language and/or words to communicate recognizes some signs and symbols names familiar objects, people and uses words for classroom, school and home routines uses appropriate forms of address, gestures and greetings makes simple statements to describe family members, everyday routines makes a simple presentation with the help of visual aids and a model. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> follows classroom routines and two-step instructions participates in a dialogue/role play about a familiar situation, without the use of a model listens and shows understanding of the meaning of a song or a simple story told expresses feelings and opinions describes personal experiences and exchanges ideas about topics of personal interest and everyday life understands phrases and expressions for familiar situations and uses them to interact makes a presentation with the help of a model or questions and can answer some simple questions posed by the audience. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> follows multi-step directions listens and speaks in small-group and whole-class interactions and short talks interacts in pair work, information gap and role-play activities picks out main points in a story, song, or short informational text told retells a story or event shared uses vocabulary for a specific situation or purpose (an invitation, a telephone call) uses language to explain, inquire and compare expresses thoughts, ideas and opinions in a discussion with others about topics of personal interest and pertinent to everyday life makes a presentation and can answer some follow-up questions posed by the audience. | |

| | Four | Five | Six |
|--|---|--|--|
| | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> understand, interpret and respond to a range of spoken texts communicate information, ideas and opinions in familiar and unfamiliar situations request and provide information in a range of spoken contexts use language appropriate to a range of spoken interpersonal and cultural contexts, and for a range of purposes and audiences use appropriate register in formal and informal oral communication use language accurately engage actively in oral production using comprehensible pronunciation and intonation/ correct tone. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> understand, analyse and respond to a range of spoken texts communicate information, ideas and opinions in social situations and some academic situations request and provide information in a range of spoken contexts use language appropriate to a range of spoken interpersonal and cultural contexts, and for a range of purposes and audiences use appropriate register in formal and informal oral communication use language accurately and effectively engage actively in oral production using comprehensible pronunciation and intonation/ correct tone. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> understand, analyse, evaluate and respond to a wide range of spoken texts communicate information, ideas and opinions in social and academic situations request and provide information in a wide range of spoken contexts use language appropriate to a wide range of spoken interpersonal and cultural contexts, and for a wide range of purposes and audiences use appropriate register in formal and informal oral communication understand and use appropriate oratory technique engage actively in oral production using comprehensible pronunciation and intonation/ correct tone. |
| | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> follows main points in an announcement listens to others responsively by asking questions about some concrete and abstract topics listens to a story told and shows understanding by anticipating or predicting events and ideas expresses and defends a point of view begins to paraphrase and summarize verbalizes thinking and explains reasons for a story or information heard about topics of personal and some of global significance gives a talk or presentation to small and large groups (about a book read or a film watched) and answers unprepared questions posed by the audience. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> follows main points in announcements, news reports, talk shows or advertisements listens to a variety of sources for pleasure and information, and shows understanding by reporting back, summarizing and interpreting what was heard uses idiomatic and some colloquial expressions listens to text read or viewed, makes inferences and draws conclusions about events and ideas related to topics of personal and global significance participates in a discussion, individual or group presentation and shares ideas, reflections and opinions with the audience. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> understands main points and some details in TV shows, documentaries, news reports, announcements and advertisements heard interacts comfortably participates in a debate listens to others critically and asks questions uses language to inform, entertain and influence others about topics related to personal interest and global significance uses idiomatic, colloquial and formal language as the purpose and audience require follows a lecture or a presentation and summarizes, makes notes and restructures information watches a film and synthesizes ideas and perspectives presented. |

Viewing and interpreting continuum

| Phase | One | Two | Three | |
|---|---|---|--|--|
| Specific expectations for the end of the phase | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> identify basic messages presented in simple visual texts identify main ideas and supporting details in simple visual texts presented with spoken and/or written text identify specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes, presented in simple visual texts with spoken and/or written text recognize basic visual conventions used in texts understand and respond to simple visual texts. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> understand messages presented in visual texts understand main ideas and supporting details in visual texts presented with spoken and/or written text understand specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes, presented in visual texts with spoken and/or written text recognize visual conventions used in texts understand and respond to simple visual texts. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> understand information presented in visual texts understand main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions from visual texts presented with spoken and/or written text understand specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes, presented in visual texts with spoken and/or written text understand visual conventions used in texts understand and respond to a limited range of visual texts. | |
| Evidence | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> uses images to help make meaning of oral and/or written text makes simple interpretations of the meaning and purpose of visual texts (for example, signs, posters, picture books, websites) on familiar topics, illustrations with oral and written text messages lists some features of the visual text (for example, colour, text layout, sound effects) finds his or her own examples to share understanding. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> uses images to help make meaning of oral and/or written text makes simple interpretations of the meaning and purpose of various print-based, digital and electronic texts (for example, cartoons, simple advertisements) lists some features of the visual text (for example, colour, text layout, sound effects, shape, sequence) finds his or her own examples to share understanding. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> uses images to help make meaning of oral and/or written text make links between the images and the purpose of the text identifies some of the features of the text chosen for a purpose finds his or her own examples to share understanding understands meaning of informational texts using visual images (for example, in brochures, news items, posters) and explains the effect and purpose of the visual elements identifies a point of view in the text. | |

| | Four | Five | Six |
|--|---|---|---|
| | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> construct meaning from information presented in visual texts construct meaning from main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions from visual texts presented with spoken and/or written text interpret specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes, presented in visual texts with spoken and/or written text interpret visual conventions used in texts understand, interpret and respond to a range of visual texts. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> analyse information presented in visual texts analyse main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions from visual texts presented with spoken and/or written text analyse specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes, presented in visual texts with spoken and/or written text analyse visual conventions used in texts understand, analyse and respond to a range of visual texts. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> evaluate information presented in visual texts evaluate main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions from visual texts presented with spoken and/or written text evaluate specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes, presented in visual texts with spoken and/or written text evaluate visual conventions used in texts understand, analyse, evaluate and respond to a wide range of visual texts. |
| | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> uses images to help make meaning of oral and/or written text explains why some of the features of the text have been chosen for a particular purpose and audience, and explains how the conventions used influence our attitude and opinions (for example, in photos with text, news reports with images, excerpts of films, websites) finds his or her own examples to share understanding makes inferences from explicit and implicit information. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> uses images to help make meaning of oral and/or written text views critically and explains why some visual texts are effective and others not (for example, in advertising, posters, newspaper reports) explores how the conventions used in visual texts create literal and symbolic meaning finds his or her own examples to share understanding by describing the effect and meaning. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> uses images to help make meaning of oral and/or written text finds some of his or her own examples to share understanding by explaining the effect and meaning shares cultural perspectives and explores stereotypes presented in visual texts with written and oral text discusses a wide range of visual language formats, why they were created and the conventions the creator used discusses possible overt and subliminal messages. |

Reading comprehension continuum

| Phase | One | Two | Three | |
|---|---|---|---|--|
| Specific expectations for the end of the phase | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • identify basic facts in simple written texts • identify main ideas and supporting details in written texts • recognize basic aspects of format and style • understand and respond to simple written texts. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • understand basic facts in written texts • understand main ideas and supporting details, and draw some conclusions from written texts • recognize basic aspects of format and style • understand and respond to simple written texts. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • understand specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes, presented in written texts • understand main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions from written texts • understand aspects of format and style in texts • understand and respond to a limited range of written texts. | |
| Evidence | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • shows an understanding of short simple texts by reading and responding to questions or completing activities about the texts • maybe needs to read multiple times • reads text and, for example, lists, defines, labels, draws, locates, selects, matches, states information • reads text of 200–300 words and answers simple questions about it. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • shows an understanding of simple texts by reading and responding to questions or completing activities about the texts • reads text and, for example, classifies, describes, explains, sequences, gives examples • reads text of 400–500 words and answers questions about main ideas and supporting details. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • shows an understanding of a limited range of texts by reading and responding to questions or completing activities about the texts • reads text and, for example, gives examples, explains, illustrates, interprets, compares, retells • reads text of 600–700 words and understands specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes. | |

| | Four | Five | Six |
|--|---|--|--|
| | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> interpret specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes, presented in written texts interpret main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions from written texts interpret aspects of format and style in written texts understand, interpret and respond to a range of written texts. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> analyse specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes, presented in written texts analyse main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions from written texts analyse aspects of format and style in written texts understand, analyse and respond to a range of written texts. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> evaluate specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes, presented in written texts evaluate main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions from written texts evaluate aspects of format and style in written texts understand, analyse, evaluate and respond to a wide range of written texts. |
| | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> shows an understanding of a range of texts by reading and responding to questions or completing activities about the texts reads texts and, for example, paraphrases, summarizes, restates, predicts, interprets, illustrates, reports, concludes reads text of 800–900 words and interprets specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> shows an understanding of a range of texts by reading and responding to questions or completing activities about the texts reads texts and, for example, breaks down, compares and contrasts, deduces, infers, illustrates, reorganizes, distinguishes reads text of 900–1,000 words and analyses main ideas, opinions and attitudes, and details in the text lists and explains the effect of the use of various stylistic devices or literary features in the text. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> shows an understanding of a wide range of texts by reading and responding to questions or completing activities about the texts reads texts and, for example, selects, criticizes, argues, concludes, decides, evaluates, judges, justifies reads text of 1,300–1,500 words and evaluates specific information, ideas, opinions and attitudes. |

Writing continuum

| Phase | One | Two | Three | |
|---|---|---|--|--|
| Specific expectations for the end of the phase | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> communicate information in a limited range of everyday situations request and provide information in a limited range of everyday situations use language appropriate to a very limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts understand and use basic language conventions accurately use some aspects of register in formal and informal written communication. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> communicate information containing relevant ideas and some details in a limited range of familiar situations request and provide information in a limited range of familiar situations use language appropriate to a limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts understand and use basic language conventions accurately use some aspects of register in formal and informal written communication. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> communicate information containing relevant ideas and some details in familiar and some unfamiliar situations request and provide information in familiar and some unfamiliar situations use language appropriate to a limited range of interpersonal and cultural contexts, and for a limited range of purposes and audiences understand and use language conventions accurately use appropriate register in formal and informal written communication. | |
| Evidence | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> writes 100–150 words writes simple phrases and sentences about an everyday situation using a model labels familiar objects, people and writes words for classroom, school and home routines makes simple statements to describe family members, everyday routines. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> writes 100–150 words writes a dialogue/role play about a familiar situation, with and without a writing frame or model expresses feelings and opinions in writing in simple format such as postcard, letter, email describes personal experiences and ideas about topics of personal interest and everyday life. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> writes 200–250 words writes short narratives or recounts keeps a journal or diary expresses thoughts, ideas and opinions about topics of personal interest and pertinent to everyday life. | |

| | Four | Five | Six |
|--|--|---|--|
| | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> communicate information, ideas and opinions in familiar and unfamiliar situations request and provide information in a range of written contexts use language appropriate to a range of interpersonal and cultural contexts, and for a range of purposes and audiences understand and use language conventions accurately use appropriate register in formal and informal written communication. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> communicate information, ideas and opinions in social situations and some academic situations request and provide information in a range of written contexts use language appropriate to a range of interpersonal and cultural contexts, and for a range of purposes and audiences understand and use language conventions accurately and effectively in writing use appropriate register in formal and informal written communication. | The student should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> communicate information, ideas and opinions in social and academic situations request and provide information in a wide range of written contexts use language appropriate to a wide range of interpersonal and cultural contexts, and for a wide range of purposes and audiences understand and use language conventions accurately, effectively and creatively in writing use appropriate register in formal and informal written communication. |
| | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> writes 200–250 words writes a book report, a review or a simple cause–effect essay, newspaper article expresses thoughts and explains reasons about topics of personal and some of global significance writes a formal letter. | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> writes 300–400 words writes a simple discursive or expository essay with the help of a writing frame or model writes about events and ideas related to topics of personal and global significance writes a formal letter (for example, to an editor). | This will be evident when the student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> writes 300–400 words understands elements of a story and writes his or her own writes various types of essays with the help of a writing frame or model writes to inform, entertain and influence others about topics related to personal interest and global significance. |

Teaching and learning through inquiry

Inquiry, in the broadest sense, is the process that people use to move to deeper levels of understanding. Inquiry involves speculating, exploring, questioning and connecting. In all IB programmes, inquiry develops curiosity and promotes critical and creative thinking.

The MYP structures sustained inquiry in language acquisition by developing conceptual understanding in global contexts. Teachers and students develop a statement of inquiry and use inquiry questions to explore the subject. Through their inquiry, students develop specific interdisciplinary and disciplinary approaches to learning skills.

Students will be able to interact and transact in the target language when they have a command of the grammar and vocabulary specific to a topic or situation, and an understanding of how language works in context. Conceptual, factual and procedural knowledge are all essential to the process of acquiring language.

Conceptual understanding

A concept is a “big idea”—a principle or notion that is enduring, the significance of which goes beyond particular origins, subject matter or place in time. Concepts represent the vehicle for students’ inquiry into the issues and ideas of personal, local and global significance, providing the means by which they can explore the essence of language acquisition.

Concepts have an important place in the structure of knowledge that requires students and teachers to think with increasing complexity as they organize and relate facts and topics.

Concepts express understanding that students take with them into lifelong adventures of learning. They help students to develop principles, generalizations and theories. Students use conceptual understanding as they solve problems, analyse issues, and evaluate decisions that can have an impact on themselves, their communities and the wider world.

In the MYP, conceptual understanding is framed by prescribed key and related concepts. Teachers must use these concepts to develop the curriculum. Schools may identify and develop additional concepts to meet local circumstances and curriculum requirements.

Key concepts

Key concepts promote the development of a broad curriculum. They represent big ideas that are both relevant within and across disciplines and subjects. Inquiry into key concepts can facilitate connections between and among:

- courses within the language acquisition subject group (intradisciplinary learning)
- other subject groups (interdisciplinary learning).

Table 4 lists the key concepts to be explored across the MYP. The key concepts contributed by the study of language acquisition are communication, connections, creativity and culture.

| | | | |
|--------------------|---------------------|-----------------------|-------------|
| Aesthetics | Change | Communication | Communities |
| Connections | Creativity | Culture | Development |
| Form | Global interactions | Identity | Logic |
| Perspective | Relationships | Time, place and space | Systems |

Table 4
MYP key concepts

These key concepts provide a framework for language acquisition, informing units of work and helping to organize teaching and learning.

Communication

Communication is the exchange or transfer of signals, facts, ideas and symbols. It requires a sender, a message and an intended receiver. Communication involves the activity of conveying information or meaning. Effective communication requires a common “language” (which may be written, spoken or non-verbal).

Through the exploration of language and the process of learning language, we exchange, express and transform information, facts, ideas, meanings and opinions. Communication is the basis of what makes us human and bridges communities across the globe; it is the essence of this discipline.

Connections

Connections are links, bonds and relationships among people, objects, organisms or ideas.

Linguistic and literary connections exist across time, cultures and across oral, visual and written texts. This concept is central to the study of language and allows for the exploration of language, applying knowledge of, and about, the language, and relationships between text, creator and audience.

Creativity

Creativity is the process of generating novel ideas and considering existing ideas from new perspectives. Creativity includes the ability to recognize the value of ideas when developing innovative responses to problems; it may be evident in process, as well as outcomes, products or solutions.

Creativity is nurtured through the process of learning language as this process involves us in divergent thinking, applying ideas, taking risks and expressing ourselves in order to relate to, and interact with, the world.

Culture

Culture encompasses a range of learned and shared beliefs, values, interests, attitudes, products, ways of knowing and patterns of behaviour created by human communities. The concept of culture is dynamic and organic.

Learning the language of a community provides opportunities to embrace diversity, to interact with sensitivity and empathy, and to participate in meaningful global interactions, which in turn develops sociocultural competence and intercultural awareness leading to international-mindedness.

Other key concepts can also be important in language acquisition; including identity, perspective, form, time, place and space.

Related concepts

Related concepts promote deep learning. They are grounded in specific disciplines and are useful for exploring key concepts in greater detail. Inquiry into related concepts helps students develop more complex and sophisticated conceptual understanding. Related concepts may arise from the subject matter of a unit or the craft of a subject—its features and processes.

Table 5 lists suggested related concepts for the study of language acquisition. Teachers are not limited to the related concepts listed in this chart and may choose others when planning units, including from other subject groups.

| Phases 1–2 | | | | | |
|------------|----------|-----------|-------------------|---------|---------------|
| Audience | Context | Purpose | Conventions | Message | Word choice |
| Meaning | Function | Structure | Patterns | Form | Accent |
| Phases 3–4 | | | | | |
| Audience | Context | Purpose | Conventions | Message | Word choice |
| Meaning | Function | Structure | Idiom | Empathy | Point of view |
| Phases 5–6 | | | | | |
| Audience | Context | Purpose | Stylistic choices | Voice | Inference |
| Bias | Theme | Argument | Idiom | Empathy | Point of view |

Table 5
Related concepts in language acquisition

The appendix contains a glossary of these related concepts for language acquisition.

Global contexts for teaching and learning

Global contexts direct learning towards independent and shared inquiry into our common humanity and shared guardianship of the planet. Using the world as the broadest context for learning, MYP language acquisition can develop meaningful explorations of:

- identities and relationships
- orientation in space and time
- personal and cultural expression
- scientific and technical innovation
- globalization and sustainability
- fairness and development

Teachers must identify one of these global contexts for teaching and learning, or develop additional contexts that help students explore the relevance of their inquiry (why it matters).

Many inquiries into language acquisition concepts naturally focus on personal and cultural expression, and identities and relationships. However, courses in this subject group should, over time, offer students multiple opportunities to explore all MYP global contexts in relationship to the aims and objectives of the subject group.

Statement of inquiry

Statements of inquiry set conceptual understanding in a global context in order to frame classroom inquiry and direct purposeful learning. Table 6 shows some possible statements of inquiry for MYP language acquisition units.

| Statement of inquiry | Key concept Related concepts Global context | Possible project/study |
|--|--|------------------------------------|
| Myths, legends and folk tales connect people across the world, using universal themes that express traditions, beliefs and values. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Connections • Theme, point of view, empathy • Identities and relationships | Myths, legends and folk tales unit |
| Poetry and song are forms of creative expression that reflect personal, social and cultural experiences over time. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Creativity • Form, meaning, patterns • Personal and cultural expression | Poetry and song unit |
| Persuasive texts, for example, in marketing and politics, use language intended to influence our behaviour and decisions. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Communication • Bias, form, function • Personal and cultural expression | Advertising or media unit |
| Language plays an important role in promoting sustainable and eco-friendly forms of tourism, and is the key to working collaboratively on efforts to reduce the negative effects of traditional tourism. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Connections • Point of view, function, context, message • Globalization and sustainability | Ecotourism unit |
| The language spoken in the street reflects the dynamic social environments in which people make themselves understood. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Culture • Idiom, patterns, meaning • Orientation in space and time | Language skills focus unit |

Table 6
Example statements of inquiry

Inquiry questions

Teachers and students use statements of inquiry to help them identify factual, conceptual and debatable inquiry questions. Inquiry questions give direction to teaching and learning, and they help to organize and sequence learning experiences.

Table 7 shows some possible inquiry questions for MYP language acquisition units.

| Factual questions Remembering facts and topics | Conceptual questions Analysing big ideas | Debatable questions Evaluating perspectives and developing theories |
|--|---|---|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> What are some elements common to myths, legends and folk tales? | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> What can I learn from a myth? | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Are myths universally true? |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> What are the features of a successful advertisement? | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> How can we be persuaded? | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> How do advertisements influence our behaviour and decisions? |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> What does this personal narrative communicate? | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> How can I relate to this narrative? | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> To what extent can my personal narrative interest someone else? |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> How much slang is there in my language, and how acceptable is its usage? | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> How does street language evolve? | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> What place does street language have in society? |

Table 7
Examples of factual, conceptual and debatable questions

Approaches to learning (ATL)

All MYP units of work offer opportunities for students to develop and practise approaches to learning (ATL) skills. ATL skills provide valuable support for students working to meet the subject group's aims and objectives.

ATL skills are grouped into five categories that span the IB continuum of international education. IB programmes identify discrete skills in each category that can be introduced, practised and consolidated in the classroom and beyond.

While ATL skills are relevant across all MYP subject groups, teachers may also identify ATL skill indicators especially relevant for, or unique to, a particular subject group or course.

Table 8 suggests some of the indicators that can be important in language acquisition.

| Category | Skill indicator |
|------------------------|---|
| Thinking skills | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Interpret data. • Use brainstorming and visual diagrams to generate new ideas and inquiries. • Create original works and ideas; use existing works and ideas in new ways. |
| Social skills | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Practise empathy. • Use social media networks appropriately to build and develop relationships. |
| Communication skills | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Use a range of speaking techniques to communicate with a variety of audiences. • Use appropriate forms of writing for different purposes and audiences. • Read a variety of sources for information and for pleasure. |
| Self-management skills | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Use appropriate strategies for organizing complex information. • Understand and use sensory learning preferences (learning styles). |
| Research skills | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Use memory techniques to develop long-term memory. • Seek a range of perspectives from multiple and varied sources. • Communicate information and ideas effectively to multiple audiences using a variety of media and formats. |

Table 8*Examples of language acquisition-specific skill indicators*

Well-designed learning engagements and assessments provide rich opportunities for students to practise and demonstrate ATL skills. Each MYP unit explicitly identifies ATL skills around which teaching and learning can focus, and through which students can authentically demonstrate what they are able to do. Formative assessments provide important feedback for developing discrete skills, and many ATL skills support students as they demonstrate their achievements in summative assessments of subject group objectives.

Table 9 lists some specific ATL skills that students can demonstrate through performances of understanding in language acquisition.

| Approaches to learning (ATL) |
|---|
| Communication (communication): Read critically and for comprehension |
| Thinking (creative thinking): Create original works and ideas |

Table 9*Examples of language acquisition demonstrations of ATL skills*

Subject-specific guidance

The languages offered by the school for study in this subject group may be modern languages or classical languages. If offering a classical language, sign language or revival/heritage language, please refer to the joint publications for these three language courses.

The language acquisition course should:

- engage a student in the study of many aspects of the language and culture of a community
- develop the student's language, specifically their reading, writing, listening, speaking and critical literacy skills
- provide a linguistic and academic challenge for students in order to give them the best possible educational experience and develop their language skills to their full potential
- offer a study of a wide range of text types, writing styles and techniques. In the later phases (phases 4–6), text types should be literary and non-literary. Literary texts can be visual, written or spoken, contemporary or traditional; they should use language in aesthetic, imaginative and engaging ways—to entertain, to evoke empathy, to express cultural identity and to reflect on ideas and issues. Non-literary texts can be visual, written or spoken, contemporary or traditional; they should use language in precise and accurate ways to inform, to transact, to report on ideas, events and issues, to explain, analyse, argue, persuade and express an opinion. A non-literary text can be: an advertisement; an opinion column; an extract from an essay; an electronic text (such as social-networking sites, blogs); a brochure (such as a public information leaflet); an extract from a memoir, diary or other autobiographical text.

Designing formative and summative assessment tasks

In addition to the learning experiences suggested in the continuums, formative and summative tasks should provide students and teachers with feedback on development of the specific skills objectives and concepts in language acquisition. Table 10 gives suggested task types and guidelines for designing assessment tasks to assess progress and achievement of the four objectives in language acquisition.

| Task type | Objective | Phase 1 | Phase 2 | Phase 3 | Phase 4 | Phase 5 | Phase 6 |
|--|--|--|--|--|---|---|---|
| A comprehension task comprising spoken and visual text in the target language with questions relating to both | Can be used to assess objective A | All questions and answers may be in mother tongue, language of instruction or the target language. | All questions and answers may be in mother tongue, language of instruction or the target language. | All questions and answers may be in mother tongue, language of instruction or the target language.. | All questions and answers must be in the target language. | All questions and answers must be in the target language. | All questions and answers must be in the target language. |
| A comprehension task comprising written and visual text in the target language with questions relating to both | Can be used to assess objective B | Text length must be between 200 and 300 words. All questions and answers may be in mother tongue, language of instruction or the target language. | Text length must be between 400 and 500 words. All questions and answers may be in mother tongue, language of instruction or the target language. | Text length must be between 600 and 700 words. All questions and answers may be in mother tongue, language of instruction or the target language. | Text length must be between 800 and 900 words. All questions and answers must be in the target language. | Text length must be between 900 and 1,000 words. All questions and answers must be in the target language. | Text length must be between 1,300 and 1,500 words. All questions and answers must be in the target language. |
| An interactive oral task (the number of minutes indicates expected student speaking time) | Can be used to assess objectives C and D | 1½–2 minutes | 2–3 minutes | 3–4 minutes | 3–4 minutes | 4–5 minutes | 4–5 minutes |
| A writing task | Can be used to assess objectives C and D | Writing piece must be between 100 and 150 words. | Writing piece must be between 100 and 150 words. | Writing piece must be between 200 and 250 words. | Writing piece must be between 200 and 250 words. | Writing piece must be between 300 and 400 words. | Writing piece must be between 300 and 400 words. |

Table 10
Suggested task types and guidelines for designing assessment tasks

Character and non-Roman alphabetical languages

These notes provide specific guidance for teachers of character and non-Roman alphabetical languages being studied in the language acquisition subject group. While it is not possible to provide a complete list of all languages in these two categories that are available for study in the MYP, languages currently studied by MYP students that fall into these categories include, but are not limited to, the following.

| | |
|----------|---------|
| Arabic | Khmer |
| Chinese | Korean |
| Hebrew | Russian |
| Hindi | Thai |
| Japanese | Urdu |

All languages in the language acquisition subject group share the same aims, broad objectives and assessment criteria. The information in this section must be used in conjunction with the framework for teaching and learning in language acquisition, as well as all the requirements set for the language acquisition subject group, as outlined in this guide. The modifications made do not constitute an exemption from any requirements or guidelines set for Roman alphabetical languages.

The following specific features of character and non-Roman languages have been identified as a rationale for the modifications. Teachers of these languages may choose to apply these modifications, as appropriate or necessary, depending on the context in which these languages are learned.

- The language has a writing system that is alphabetical but non-Roman and therefore requires students to learn to write and read a new alphabet.
- The language has a writing system that uses symbols for consonants and vowels (syllabic) or uses symbols for concepts or ideas (ideographic) and therefore requires students to learn to write and read a new script and may involve different reading processes.
- The language is tonal: different tones distinguish different meanings. Accuracy of tone to distinguish meaning requires more specific attention and a longer amount of time to master.

Modifications

Students need more time to become proficient in character and non-Roman languages, particularly if the student's first language is a Roman alphabetical language. Teachers are able to make the following modifications to the objectives and assessment criteria:

B Comprehending written and visual text

In the strand referring to understanding and responding to written texts, the use of a transliteration/Romanization guide, such as the Chinese "Pinyin" system, is supported up to and including phase 3, and for Japanese Romaji, in phase 1 only.

The number of characters students are expected to read and comprehend has been modified. Please refer to Table 11 in this section.

C Communicating in response to spoken, written and visual text

In the strand referring to the use of comprehensible pronunciation and intonation, for tonal languages “intonation” is replaced by “correct tone”.

D Using language in spoken and written form

The number of characters students are expected to write has been modified. Please refer to Table 12 in this section.

Equivalency tables

| Phase | Roman alphabetical languages | Chinese language | Korean language | Japanese language | Non-Roman alphabetical languages |
|-------|------------------------------|--------------------|--------------------|--------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 | 200–300 words | 150–250 characters | 200–300 characters | 100–200 characters | 80–240 words |
| 2 | 400–500 | 250–400 | 400–500 | 200–350 | 240–400 |
| 3 | 600–700 | 400–600 | 550–600 | 350–500 | 400–560 |
| 4 | 800–900 | 600–700 | 650–750 | 600–700 | 560–720 |
| 5 | 900–1,000 | 700–850 | 800–900 | 700–800 | 720–800 |
| 6 | 1,300–1,500 | 850–1,000 | 950–1,000 | 800–1,000 | 800–900 |

Table 11

MYP language acquisition word–character equivalency suggested for length of reading comprehension texts

| Phase | Roman alphabetical languages | Chinese language | Korean language | Japanese language | Non-Roman alphabetical languages |
|-------|------------------------------|-------------------|--------------------|--------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 | 100–150 words | 50–100 characters | 130–200 characters | 100–200 characters | 60–120 words |
| 2 | 100–150 | 100–150 | 130–200 | 200–250 | 80–140 |
| 3 | 200–250 | 200–250 | 270–330 | 250–300 | 100–160 |
| 4 | 200–250 | 250–350 | 270–330 | 300–400 | 160–220 |
| 5 | 300–400 | 350–400 | 400–530 | 400–600 | 220–280 |
| 6 | 300–400 | 400–500 | 400–530 | 600–800 | 280–400 |

Table 12

MYP language acquisition word–character equivalency suggested for length of writing tasks

Resources

The choice of resources within a school should reflect the languages and the range of ages and abilities within that school. Schools also need to ensure that there is:

- an adequate range and number of resources for teachers, as well as students
- a good choice of supplementary materials and “graded readers” in the target language
- a variety of teaching materials from the country/countries where the target language is spoken for use in the additional language classroom.

The school library has an essential role to play in providing these, and other, resources. As well as providing up-to-date and appropriate resources both for teachers and students, the school library should provide opportunities for students to access material to support subject-specific and interdisciplinary units of work, and to develop information-literacy skills. The library is key in providing world literature, information in different languages, and in providing rich opportunities for students to develop and communicate their understanding in multimodal and multimedia ways. Information and communication technology (ICT) should be used, when appropriate, as an important means of expanding students’ knowledge of the world in which they live, gaining access to a broader range of language resources and as a new channel for developing skills. All teachers have the responsibility to teach students to use electronic media critically so that students are aware of the uses and limitations of the data.

Teachers may wish to include the use of one or more of the following ICT applications in their language acquisition course.

| | |
|---|---------------------------------------|
| Assistive/adaptive technology | Language learning software/CDs |
| CD-ROMs for research | Podcasts/MP3s/audio files |
| Computer algebra systems | Presentations (PowerPoint®, Prezi®) |
| Databases and spreadsheets | Programming languages |
| Dynamic geometry software | Simulations and virtual re-enactments |
| Games as learning tools/facilitators | Subject content-specific software |
| Graphic display calculators (GDCs) | Use of computer-aided design (CAD) |
| Graphic organizers | Video and video editing |
| Graph plotter software | Videoconferencing |
| Internet search engines to source materials | Word processing or desktop publishing |

Alignment of objectives and criteria

In the MYP, assessment is closely aligned with the written and taught curriculum. Each strand from MYP language acquisition has a corresponding strand in the assessment criteria for this subject group. Figure 3 illustrates this alignment and the increasingly complex demands for student performance at higher levels of achievement.

D: Using language in spoken and written form

At the end of phase 3, students should be able to:

- i. write and speak using a range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use clear pronunciation and intonation
- ii. organize information and ideas and use a range of basic cohesive devices
- iii. use language to suit the context.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty to write/speak using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with many errors, making understanding difficult ii. organizes limited information and ideas, and basic cohesive devices are not used iii. makes minimal use of language to suit the context. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions, with some inappropriate choices; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with some errors, some of which make understanding difficult ii. organizes some information and ideas, and uses a limited range of basic cohesive devices, not always appropriately iii. uses language to suit the context to some degree. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks making good use of a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions, generally accurately; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with some errors, though these do not interfere with comprehensibility ii. organizes information and ideas well, and uses a limited range of basic cohesive devices accurately iii. usually uses language to suit the context. |
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks effectively using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions accurately; occasional errors do not interfere with communication. When speaking, uses clear pronunciation and excellent intonation, making communication easy ii. organizes information and ideas clearly, and uses a range of basic cohesive devices accurately; there is a logical structure and cohesive devices add clarity to the message iii. uses language effectively to suit the context. |

Figure 3
Language acquisition objectives and criteria alignment

Assessment criteria overview

Assessment for language acquisition in all years of the programme is criterion-related, based on four equally weighted assessment criteria.

| | | |
|--------------------|--|------------------|
| Criterion A | Comprehending spoken and visual text | Maximum 8 |
| Criterion B | Comprehending written and visual text | Maximum 8 |
| Criterion C | Communicating in response to spoken, written and visual text | Maximum 8 |
| Criterion D | Using language in spoken and written form | Maximum 8 |

Subject groups must address all strands of all four assessment criteria at least twice in each year of the MYP.

In the MYP, subject group objectives correspond to assessment criteria. Each criterion has nine possible achievement levels (0–8), divided into four bands that generally represent limited (1–2); adequate (3–4); substantial (5–6); and excellent (7–8) performance. Each band has its own unique descriptor that teachers use to make “best-fit” judgments about students’ progress and achievement.

This guide provides the required assessment criteria for phases 1 to 6 of MYP language acquisition. In response to national or local requirements, schools may add criteria and use additional models of assessment. Schools must use the appropriate assessment criteria as published in this guide to report students’ final achievement in the programme.

Teachers clarify the expectations for each summative assessment task with direct reference to these assessment criteria. Task-specific clarifications should clearly explain what students are expected to know and do. They might be in the form of:

- a task-specific version of the required assessment criteria
- a face-to-face or virtual classroom discussion
- a detailed task sheet or assignment.

Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 1

Criterion A: Comprehending spoken and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 1, students should be able to:

- iv. identify basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details
- v. recognize basic conventions
- vi. engage with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. identifies minimal basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has limited awareness of basic conventions iii. engages minimally with the spoken and visual text by identifying few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a personal response to the text. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. identifies some basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has some awareness of basic conventions iii. engages adequately with the spoken and visual text by identifying some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some personal response to the text. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. identifies most basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has considerable awareness of basic conventions iii. engages considerably with the spoken and visual text by identifying most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. clearly identifies basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has excellent awareness of basic conventions iii. engages thoroughly with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion B: Comprehending written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 1, students should be able to:

- i. identify basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details
- ii. recognize basic aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing
- iii. engage with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. identifies minimal basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has limited awareness of basic aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages minimally with the written and visual text by identifying few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a personal response to the text. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. identifies some basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has some awareness of basic aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages adequately with the written and visual text by identifying some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some personal response to the text. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. identifies most basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has considerable awareness of basic aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages considerably with the written and visual text by identifying most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. clearly identifies basic facts, messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has excellent awareness of basic aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages thoroughly with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion C: Communicating in response to spoken, written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 1, students should be able to:

- i. respond appropriately to simple short phrases
- ii. interact in simple and rehearsed exchanges, using verbal and non-verbal language
- iii. use basic phrases to communicate ideas, feelings and information on a variety of aspects of everyday topics
- iv. communicate with a sense of audience.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. makes limited attempt to respond to simple short phrases and basic information in spoken, written and visual text; responses are often inappropriate ii. interacts minimally in simple and rehearsed exchanges, using verbal and non-verbal language iii. uses minimal basic phrases to communicate ideas, feelings and information on a limited range of aspects of everyday topics iv. communicates with a limited sense of audience. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds to simple short phrases and basic information in spoken, written and visual text, though some responses may be inappropriate ii. interacts to some degree in simple and rehearsed exchanges, using verbal and non-verbal language iii. uses some basic phrases to communicate ideas, feelings and information on a limited range of aspects of everyday topics iv. communicates with some sense of audience. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds appropriately to simple short phrases and basic information in spoken, written and visual text ii. interacts considerably in simple and rehearsed exchanges, using verbal and non-verbal language iii. uses basic phrases to communicate ideas, feelings and information on some aspects of everyday topics iv. communicates with a considerable sense of audience. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds in detail and appropriately to simple short phrases and basic information in spoken, written and visual text ii. interacts confidently in simple and rehearsed exchanges, using verbal and non-verbal language iii. uses basic phrases effectively to communicate ideas, feelings and information on a variety of aspects of everyday topics iv. communicates with an excellent sense of audience. |

Criterion D: Using language in spoken and written form

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 1, students should be able to:

- i. write and speak using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use clear pronunciation and intonation
- ii. organize basic information and use a range of basic cohesive devices
- iii. use language to suit the context.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty to write/speak using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with many errors, making understanding difficult ii. organizes limited basic information, and basic cohesive devices are not used iii. makes minimal use of language to suit the context. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions, with some inappropriate choices; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with some errors, some of which make understanding difficult ii. organizes some basic information and uses a limited range of basic cohesive devices, not always appropriately iii. uses language to suit the context to some degree. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks making good use of a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions, generally accurately; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with some errors, though these do not interfere with comprehensibility ii. organizes basic information and uses a limited range of basic cohesive devices accurately iii. usually uses language to suit the context. |
| 7–8 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks effectively using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions accurately; when speaking, uses clear pronunciation and excellent intonation, making communication easy ii. organizes basic information clearly and uses a range of basic cohesive devices accurately iii. uses language effectively to suit the context. |

Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 2

Criterion A: Comprehending spoken and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 2, students should be able to:

- i. show understanding of messages, main ideas and supporting details
- ii. recognize basic conventions
- iii. engage with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows minimal understanding of messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has limited awareness of basic conventions iii. engages minimally with the spoken and visual text by identifying few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a personal response to the text. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows some understanding of messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has some awareness of basic conventions iii. engages adequately with the spoken and visual text by identifying some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some personal response to the text. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows considerable understanding of messages, main ideas and supporting details ii. has considerable awareness of basic conventions iii. engages considerably with the spoken and visual text by identifying most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none">i. shows excellent understanding of messages, main ideas and supporting detailsii. has excellent awareness of basic conventionsiii. engages thoroughly with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion B: comprehending written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 2, students should be able to:

- i. identify basic facts, main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions
- ii. recognize basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing
- iii. engage with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. identifies minimal basic facts and main ideas but few supporting details; is not able to draw conclusions ii. has limited awareness of basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages minimally with the written and visual text by identifying few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a personal response to the text. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. identifies some basic facts, main ideas and supporting details; is not always able to draw conclusions ii. recognizes some basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages adequately with the written and visual text by identifying some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some personal response to the text. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. identifies most basic facts, main ideas and supporting details, and draws conclusions ii. recognizes most basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages considerably with the written and visual text by identifying most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. clearly identifies basic facts, main ideas and supporting details, and draws conclusions ii. clearly recognizes basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages thoroughly with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a personal response to the text. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion C: Communicating in response to spoken, written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 2, students should be able to:

- i. respond appropriately to spoken, written and visual text
- ii. interact in basic structured exchanges
- iii. use phrases to communicate ideas, feelings and information in familiar situations
- iv. communicate with a sense of audience.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. makes limited attempt to respond to simple short phrases or basic information in spoken, written and visual text; responses are often inappropriate ii. interacts minimally in basic structured exchanges iii. uses minimal phrases to communicate ideas, feelings and information in a limited range of familiar situations iv. communicates with a limited sense of audience. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds to simple short phrases and some basic information in spoken, written and visual text, though some responses may be inappropriate ii. interacts to some degree in basic structured exchanges iii. uses some phrases to communicate ideas, feelings and information in a limited range of familiar situations; ideas are not always relevant or detailed iv. communicates with some sense of audience. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds appropriately to simple short phrases and basic information in spoken, written and visual text ii. interacts considerably in basic structured exchanges iii. uses phrases to communicate ideas, feelings and information in some familiar situations; ideas are relevant and detailed iv. communicates with a considerable sense of audience. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none">i. responds in detail and appropriately to simple short phrases and basic information in spoken, written and visual textii. interacts confidently in basic structured exchangesiii. uses phrases effectively to communicate ideas, feelings and information in a variety of familiar situations; ideas are relevant, detailed and include examplesiv. communicates with an excellent sense of audience. |

Criterion D: Using language in spoken and written form

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 2, students should be able to:

- i. write and speak using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use clear pronunciation and intonation
- ii. organize information and ideas and use a range of basic cohesive devices
- iii. use language to suit the context.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty to write/speak using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with many errors, making understanding difficult ii. organizes limited basic information and ideas, and basic cohesive devices are not used iii. makes minimal use of language to suit the context. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions, with some inappropriate choices; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with some errors, some of which make understanding difficult ii. organizes some basic information and ideas, and uses a limited range of basic cohesive devices, not always appropriately iii. uses language to suit the context to some degree. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks making good use of a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions, generally accurately; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with some errors, though these do not interfere with comprehensibility ii. organizes basic information and ideas well, and uses a limited range of basic cohesive devices accurately iii. usually uses language to suit the context. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks effectively using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions accurately; occasional errors do not interfere with communication. When speaking, uses clear pronunciation and excellent intonation, making communication easy ii. organizes basic information and ideas clearly, and uses a range of basic cohesive devices accurately; there is a logical structure and cohesive devices add clarity to the message iii. uses language effectively to suit the context. |

Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 3

Criterion A: Comprehending spoken and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 3, students should be able to:

- i. show understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions
- ii. understand conventions
- iii. engage with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows minimal understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and is not able to draw conclusions ii. has limited understanding of conventions iii. engages minimally with the spoken and visual text by identifying few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows some understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and draws some conclusions ii. has some understanding of conventions iii. engages adequately with the spoken and visual text by identifying some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 5–6 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows considerable understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and draws conclusions ii. has considerable understanding of conventions iii. engages considerably with the spoken and visual text by identifying most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows excellent understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and draws conclusions ii. has excellent understanding of conventions iii. engages thoroughly with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion B: Comprehending written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 3, students should be able to:

- i. show understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions
- ii. understand basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing
- iii. engage with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows minimal understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and is not able to draw conclusions ii. has limited understanding of basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages minimally with the written and visual text by identifying few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows some understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and draws some conclusions ii. understands some basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages adequately with the written and visual text by identifying some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows considerable understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and draws conclusions ii. understands most basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages considerably with the written and visual text by identifying most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. shows excellent understanding of information, main ideas and supporting details, and draws conclusions ii. clearly understands basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages thoroughly with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion C: Communicating in response to spoken, written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 3, students should be able to:

- i. respond appropriately to spoken, written and visual text
- ii. interact in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges
- iii. express ideas and feelings, and communicate information in familiar and some unfamiliar situations
- iv. communicate with a sense of audience and purpose.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. makes limited attempt to respond to spoken, written and visual text; responses are often inappropriate ii. interacts minimally in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges iii. expresses few ideas and feelings and communicates minimal information in familiar and some unfamiliar situations iv. communicates with a limited sense of audience and purpose. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds to spoken, written and visual text, though some responses may be inappropriate ii. interacts to some degree in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges iii. expresses some ideas and feelings and communicates some information in familiar and some unfamiliar situations; ideas are not always relevant or detailed iv. communicates with some sense of audience and purpose. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds appropriately to spoken, written and visual text ii. interacts considerably in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges iii. expresses ideas and feelings and communicates information in familiar and some unfamiliar situations; ideas are relevant and detailed iv. communicates with a considerable sense of audience and purpose. |
| 7–8 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds in detail and appropriately to spoken, written and visual text ii. interacts confidently in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges iii. effectively expresses a wide range of ideas and feelings and communicates information in familiar and some unfamiliar situations; ideas are relevant and opinions are supported by examples and illustrations iv. communicates with an excellent sense of audience and purpose. |

Criterion D: Using language in spoken and written form

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 3, students should be able to:

- i. write and speak using a range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use clear pronunciation and intonation
- ii. organize information and ideas and use a range of basic cohesive devices
- iii. use language to suit the context.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty to write/speak using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with many errors, making understanding difficult ii. organizes limited information and ideas, and basic cohesive devices are not used iii. makes minimal use of language to suit the context. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions, with some inappropriate choices; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with some errors, some of which make understanding difficult ii. organizes some information and ideas, and uses a limited range of basic cohesive devices, not always appropriately iii. uses language to suit the context to some degree. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks making good use of a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions, generally accurately; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with some errors, though these do not interfere with comprehensibility ii. organizes information and ideas well, and uses a limited range of basic cohesive devices accurately iii. usually uses language to suit the context. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks effectively using a basic range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions accurately; occasional errors do not interfere with communication. When speaking, uses clear pronunciation and excellent intonation, making communication easy ii. organizes information and ideas clearly, and uses a range of basic cohesive devices accurately; there is a logical structure and cohesive devices add clarity to the message iii. uses language effectively to suit the context. |

Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 4

Criterion A: Comprehending spoken and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 4, students should be able to:

- i. construct meaning and draw conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details
- ii. interpret conventions
- iii. engage with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty constructing meaning from information or main ideas and supporting details; is not able to draw conclusions ii. has difficulty interpreting conventions iii. engages minimally with the spoken and visual text by identifying few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. constructs some meaning and draws some conclusions from information, main ideas and some supporting details ii. interprets some conventions iii. engages adequately with the spoken and visual text by identifying some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 5–6 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. constructs considerable meaning and draws conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. interprets most conventions iii. engages considerably with the spoken and visual text by identifying most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. constructs extensive meaning and draws conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. interprets conventions iii. engages thoroughly with the spoken and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion B: Comprehending written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 4, students should be able to:

- i. construct meaning by identifying stated and implied information, main ideas and supporting details, and draw conclusions
- ii. interpret basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing
- iii. engage with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty constructing meaning by identifying stated information or main ideas and supporting details; is not able to draw conclusions ii. has difficulty interpreting basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages minimally with the written and visual text by identifying few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. constructs some meaning from stated and some implied information, main ideas and supporting details; draws some conclusions ii. interprets some basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages adequately with the written and visual text by identifying some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. constructs considerable meaning by identifying stated and implied information, main ideas and supporting details, and draws conclusions ii. interprets most basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages considerably with the written and visual text by identifying most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. constructs extensive meaning by identifying stated and implied information, main ideas and supporting details, and draws conclusions ii. interprets basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages thoroughly with the written and visual text by identifying ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion C: Communicating in response to spoken, written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 4, students should be able to:

- i. respond appropriately to spoken, written and visual text
- ii. engage in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges to share ideas on topics of personal and global significance
- iii. express ideas and feelings, and communicate information in simple and complex texts
- iv. communicate with a sense of audience and purpose.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. makes limited attempt to respond to spoken, written and visual text; responses are often inappropriate ii. engages minimally in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges; ideas are not always related to topics of personal and global significance iii. expresses few ideas and feelings, and communicates minimal information in simple and complex texts iv. communicates with a limited sense of audience and purpose. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds to spoken, written and visual text, though some responses may be inappropriate ii. engages to some degree in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges to share some ideas on topics of personal and global significance iii. expresses some ideas and feelings, and communicates some information in simple and complex texts; ideas are not always relevant or detailed iv. communicates with some sense of audience and purpose. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds appropriately to spoken, written and visual text ii. engages considerably in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges to share ideas on topics of personal and global significance iii. expresses ideas and feelings, and communicates information in simple and complex texts; ideas are relevant and detailed iv. communicates with a considerable sense of audience and purpose. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds in detail and appropriately to spoken, written and visual text ii. engages confidently in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges to share a variety of informative and organized ideas on topics of personal and global significance iii. effectively expresses a wide range of ideas and feelings, and communicates information in simple and complex texts; ideas are relevant and developed, and opinions are supported by examples and illustrations iv. communicates with an excellent sense of audience and purpose. |

Criterion D: Using language in spoken and written form

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 4, students should be able to:

- i. write and speak using a range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use clear pronunciation and intonation
- ii. organize information and ideas into a structured text; use a wide range of cohesive devices
- iii. use language to suit the context.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty to write/speak using a range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with many errors, making understanding difficult ii. organizes limited information, and cohesive devices are not used iii. makes minimal use of language to suit the context. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks using a range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions, with some inappropriate choices; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with some errors, some of which make understanding difficult ii. organizes some information and ideas, and uses a limited range of cohesive devices, not always appropriately iii. uses language to suit the context to some degree. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks making good use of a range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions, generally accurately; when speaking, uses pronunciation and intonation with some errors, though these do not interfere with comprehensibility ii. organizes information and ideas well, and uses a limited range of cohesive devices accurately iii. usually uses language to suit the context. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks effectively using a range of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conventions accurately; occasional errors do not interfere with communication. When speaking, uses clear pronunciation and excellent intonation, making communication easy ii. organizes information and ideas clearly into a well-structured text; uses a range of cohesive devices accurately, adding clarity and coherence to the message iii. uses language effectively to suit the context. |

Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 5

Criterion A: Comprehending spoken and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 5, students should be able to:

- i. analyse and draw conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details
- ii. analyse conventions
- iii. engage with the spoken and visual text by analysing ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty analysing information or main ideas and supporting details; is not able to draw conclusions ii. has difficulty analysing conventions iii. engages minimally with the spoken and visual text by analysing few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective.. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. analyses adequately and draws some conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. analyses some conventions iii. engages adequately with the spoken and visual text by analysing some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 5–6 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. analyses considerably and draws conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. analyses most conventions iii. engages considerably with the spoken and visual text by analysing most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. analyses thoroughly and draws conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. analyses conventions iii. engages thoroughly with the spoken and visual text by analysing ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion B: Comprehending written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 5, students should be able to:

- i. analyse and draw conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details
- ii. analyse basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing
- iii. engage with the written and visual text by analysing ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty analysing information or main ideas and supporting details; is not able to draw conclusions ii. has difficulty analysing basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages minimally with the written and visual text by analysing few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. analyses adequately and draws some conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. analyses some basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages adequately with the written and visual text by analysing some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. analyses considerably and draws conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. analyses most basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages considerably with the written and visual text by analysing most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. analyses thoroughly and draws conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. analyses basic conventions including aspects of format and style, and author's purpose for writing iii. engages thoroughly with the written and visual text by analysing ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion C: Communicating in response to spoken, written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 5, students should be able to:

- i. respond appropriately to spoken, written and visual text
- ii. engage in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges to share ideas on a range of topics of personal and global significance
- iii. express ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicate information in a wide range of situations
- iv. communicate with a sense of register, purpose and style.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. makes limited attempt to respond to spoken, written and visual text; responses are often inappropriate ii. engages minimally in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges; ideas are not always related to topics of personal and global significance iii. expresses few ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicates minimal information in various situations iv. communicates with a limited sense of register, purpose and style. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds to spoken, written and visual text, though some responses may be inappropriate ii. engages to some degree in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges to share some ideas on topics of personal and global significance iii. expresses some ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicates some information in a range of situations; ideas are not always relevant or detailed iv. communicates with some sense of register, purpose and style. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds appropriately to spoken, written and visual text ii. engages considerably in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges to share ideas on topics of personal and global significance iii. expresses ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicates information in a range of situations; ideas are relevant and detailed iv. communicates with a considerable sense of register, purpose and style. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds in detail and appropriately to spoken, written and visual text ii. engages confidently in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges to share a variety of informative and organized ideas on a range of topics of personal and global significance iii. effectively expresses a wide range of ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicates information in a wide range of situations; ideas are relevant and developed, reflecting a good understanding of the topic. Opinions are supported by examples and illustrations iv. communicates with an excellent sense of register, purpose and style. |

Criterion D: Using language in spoken and written form

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 5, students should be able to:

- i. write and speak using a range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use intonation and fluency
- i. organize information and ideas; use a wide range of cohesive devices
- ii. use language to suit the context.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty to write/speak using a range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions; speaks with many errors in intonation and pronunciation, affecting fluency and making understanding difficult ii. organizes limited information, and cohesive devices are not used iii. makes minimal use of language to suit the context. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks using a range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions, with some inappropriate choices; speaks with some errors in intonation and pronunciation, affecting fluency and sometimes making understanding difficult ii. organizes some information and ideas, and uses a limited range of cohesive devices, not always appropriately iii. uses language to suit the context to some degree. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks making good use of a range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions, generally accurately; speaks with fluency and some errors in intonation, though this does not interfere with comprehensibility ii. organizes information and ideas well, and uses a range of cohesive devices accurately iii. usually uses language to suit the context. |
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks effectively using a range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions accurately; occasional errors do not interfere with communication. Speaks with excellent intonation and fluency, making communication easy ii. organizes information and ideas into a clear and effective structure; uses a wide range of cohesive devices accurately, enhancing the development of ideas iii. uses language effectively to suit the context. |

Language acquisition assessment criteria: Phase 6

Criterion A: Comprehending spoken and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 6, students should be able to:

- i. evaluate and draw conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details
- ii. interpret the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose
- iii. engage with the spoken and visual text by evaluating ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty evaluating information or main ideas and supporting details; is not able to draw conclusions ii. has difficulty interpreting the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose iii. engages minimally with the spoken and visual text by evaluating few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. evaluates adequately and draws some conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details in social and academic situations ii. adequately interprets the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose iii. engages adequately with the spoken and visual text by evaluating some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 5–6 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. evaluates considerably and draws conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details in social and academic situations ii. interprets to some degree the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose iii. engages considerably with the spoken and visual text by evaluating most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. evaluates thoroughly and draws conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details in social and academic situations ii. interprets the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose iii. engages thoroughly with the spoken and visual text by evaluating ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion B: Comprehending written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 6, students should be able to:

- i. evaluate and draw conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details
- ii. interpret the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose
- iii. engage with the written and visual text by evaluating ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty evaluating information or main ideas and supporting details; is not able to draw conclusions ii. has difficulty interpreting the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose iii. engages minimally with the written and visual text by evaluating few ideas, opinions and attitudes; has difficulty making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows limited understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. evaluates adequately and draws some conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. adequately interprets the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose iii. engages adequately with the written and visual text by evaluating some ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making some response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows some understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. evaluates considerably and draws conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. interprets to some degree the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose iii. engages considerably with the written and visual text by evaluating most ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows considerable understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|--|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. evaluates thoroughly and draws conclusions from information, main ideas and supporting details ii. interprets the author's choice of style, format and ideas to suit an intended audience and purpose iii. engages thoroughly with the written and visual text by evaluating ideas, opinions and attitudes and by making a response to the text based on personal experiences and opinions from a global perspective. The student shows thorough understanding of the content, context and concepts of the text as a whole. |

Criterion C: Communicating in response to spoken, written and visual text

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 6, students should be able to:

- i. respond appropriately to spoken, written and visual text
- ii. engage in unrehearsed and complex exchanges on a wide range of topics of personal and global significance
- iii. express a wide range of ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicate information in a wide range of social and academic contexts
- iv. communicate with a sense of register, purpose and style.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. makes limited attempt to respond to spoken, written and visual text; responses are often inappropriate ii. engages minimally in rehearsed and unrehearsed exchanges; ideas are not always related to topics of personal and global significance iii. expresses few ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicates minimal information in various social and academic contexts iv. communicates with a limited sense of register, purpose and style. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds to spoken, written and visual text, though some responses may be inappropriate ii. engages to some degree in rehearsed and unrehearsed complex exchanges to share some ideas on topics of personal and global significance iii. expresses some ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicates some information in a range of social and academic contexts; ideas are not always relevant or detailed iv. communicates with some sense of register, purpose and style. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds appropriately to spoken, written and visual text ii. engages considerably in rehearsed and unrehearsed complex exchanges to share ideas on topics of personal and global significance iii. expresses ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicates information in a range of social and academic contexts; ideas are relevant and detailed iv. communicates with a considerable sense of register, purpose and style. |

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 7–8 | The student: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> i. responds in detail and appropriately to spoken, written and visual text ii. engages confidently in rehearsed and unrehearsed complex exchanges to share a variety of informative and organized ideas on a range of topics of personal and global significance iii. effectively expresses a wide range of ideas, opinions and feelings, and communicates information in a wide range of social and academic contexts; ideas are relevant and developed, reflecting a good understanding of the topic. Opinions are supported by examples and illustrations iv. communicates with an excellent sense of register, purpose and style. |

Criterion D: Using language in spoken and written form

Maximum: 8

At the end of phase 6, students should be able to:

- i. write and speak using a wide range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions; when speaking, use oratory technique
- ii. organize information and ideas; use a wide range of cohesive devices
- iii. use language to suit the context.

| Achievement level | Level descriptor |
|-------------------|---|
| 0 | The student does not reach a standard described by any of the descriptors below. |
| 1–2 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. has difficulty to write/speak using a range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions; speaks with many errors in intonation and pronunciation, affecting fluency and making understanding difficult ii. organizes limited information, and cohesive devices are not used iii. makes minimal use of language to suit the context. |
| 3–4 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks using a range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions, with some inappropriate choices; speaks with some oratory technique ii. organizes some information and ideas, and uses a range of cohesive devices, not always appropriately iii. uses language to suit the context to some degree. |
| 5–6 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks making good use of a range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions, generally accurately; uses good oratory technique ii. organizes information and ideas well, and uses a wide range of cohesive devices accurately iii. usually uses language to suit the context. |
| 7–8 | The student: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> i. writes/speaks effectively using a wide range of vocabulary, complex grammatical structures and conventions accurately; occasional errors do not interfere with communication. Speaks with excellent oratory technique ii. organizes information and ideas into a logical and well-structured text; uses a wide range of cohesive devices accurately and effectively iii. uses language effectively to suit the context. |

eAssessment

Students seeking MYP results for MYP language acquisition submit an ePortfolio in which they can demonstrate their achievement of subject group objectives. Successful results can contribute to students' attainment of the MYP certificate. This verification of learning assures accurate and consistently applied standards, as set forth in the Guide to MYP eAssessment.

Related concepts in language acquisition

| Related concept | Definition |
|--------------------|--|
| Accent | Accent refers to the pronunciation of a language, usually in a geographical or socio-economic context in a first language. It encompasses spoken communication. In a target language, the first language accent may influence accent in the target language. |
| Argument | Argument refers to the coherent backdrop of reasoned text that may or may not involve disagreement, debate or persuasion. |
| Audience | Refers to whomever a text or performance is aimed at: the reader, the listener, the viewer. |
| Bias | Bias refers to a conscious distortion or exaggeration, which usually expresses prejudice or partiality. |
| Context | The social, historical, cultural and workplace settings in which a text or work is produced. |
| Conventions | Conventions are the characteristics of a literary or non-literary genre. These features may, of course, vary between languages. Each genre has recognizable techniques, referred to as literary or linguistic conventions, and writers use these conventions, along with other features, in order to achieve particular artistic ends. |
| Empathy | Empathy refers to an attitude of understanding, an emotional identification with a person, character, argument or situation. |
| Form | Form refers to the linguistic shape communication may take. It is the mould that is filled with linguistic content. |
| Function | Function refers to the purpose and/or use of communication. |
| Idiom | Idiom is unique to each language. It refers to a manner of speaking or to specific expressions whose meaning differs from the meaning of its individual components. |
| Inference | Information in a text that goes beyond what is first understood or apparent, to identify what may be thought, expressed or considered correct. It is the layer of text that is often referred to as "between the lines". |
| Meaning | Meaning refers to what is communicated, by intention or by implication, using any range of human expression. It is sometimes referred to as "message". Meaning includes "layers of meaning", nuance, denotation, connotation, inference, subtext. |
| Message | A communication in writing, speech, verbal or non-verbal language. The message can also be an underlying theme or idea. |
| Patterns | Patterns refers to use of language and style, which can be functional, decorative or social. They reflect the unique characteristics of a language. |

| Related concept | Definition |
|--------------------------|---|
| Point of view | Point of view refers to an attitude or perception that is communicated in text. |
| Purpose | The purpose for communicating can be, for example, to entertain, to recount, to socialize, to inquire, to inform, to persuade, to explain, to instruct. In literary terms, the creator's intentions in producing the text. This concept could also engage students in exploration of meaning, thesis/argument, gender, bias, persuasive techniques, function, critical stance, message. |
| Structure | Structure refers to the organization, pattern and elements of text, in any format. It promotes comprehension and effectiveness of communication. For example, this may involve an introduction, development and conclusion (as in some types of formal essay) |
| Stylistic choices | A creator makes choices about what they are going to describe and how to describe it in order to create effect. It is an umbrella term covering literary and non-literary features: linguistic devices (for example, rhetorical, syntax, repetition); literary devices (for example, symbolism, metaphor, simile); visual devices (for example, colour, texture, symbolism, foregrounding). |
| Theme | Theme refers to a dominant subject, thread or idea that is conveyed through a text form. |
| Voice | This concept relates to both a reader's experience of a work of literature and a writer's style when producing text. Voice is the characteristic speech and thought patterns of a narrator; a persona, which conveys his or her attitude, personality, and character. |

References

Baldick, C. 2008. The Concise Oxford Dictionary of Literary Terms. UK. Oxford University Press.

Cambridge Dictionaries Online: <http://dictionary.cambridge.org/>.

Collins Dictionary online: <http://www.collinsdictionary.com/>.

Oxford Dictionary online: <http://oxforddictionaries.com/>.

Language acquisition glossary

| Term | Definition |
|-------------------------|--|
| Accuracy | Accuracy, appropriateness and effect in writing refers to use of transitional devices, tenses, word use and word order, accents, register and spelling. Accuracy, appropriateness and effect in speaking refers to use of transitional devices, tenses, word use and word order, register, pronunciation and intonation. |
| Aspects of style | The use of literary devices such as register, tone, alliteration, onomatopoeia, exaggeration, genre, metaphor, simile, and so on. |
| Cohesive devices | The grammatical and/or lexical items that give coherence to the text as a whole, as well as punctuation and paragraphing. |
| Communication | Oral communication encompasses all aspects of listening and speaking. Oral skills are essential for language development, for learning and for relating to others. Listening (the receptive mode) and speaking (the expressive mode) work together in a transactional process between listeners and speakers. Oral communication enables students to construct meaning through the process of articulating thoughts and internalizing meaning from speech in a variety of ways. Role plays, interviews, oral presentations, discussions, debates, lectures, speeches and drama are all examples of learning experiences in which students may engage in order to develop their oral communication skills both as speakers and listeners. Some oral communication tasks will involve a single, main speaker whereas other oral communication tasks will involve multiple, interacting speakers. Speakers may be face-to-face or digital participants in oral exchange. Visual communication encompasses all aspects of viewing and interpreting text and multimedia in a variety of situations and for a range of purposes and audiences. Visual texts are constructed to convey meaning and engage viewers in accessing information and interpreting thoughts, ideas and feelings. They allow students to understand the interplay of image and language to convey cultural facts, ideas, values and attitudes. Visual texts may be paper, electronic or live, observable forms of communication constructed to present information. Learning to interpret this information and to understand and use different media develops invaluable skills. Symbols and signs, graphs, tables, diagrams, leaflets, brochures, posters, advertisements, cartoons, comics, graphic novels, television programmes, films, music video clips, newspapers, magazines, websites and dramatic interpretations are all examples of visual text types with which students may engage in order to develop their visual interpretation skills. |

| Term | Definition |
|-----------------------------|---|
| Communication | Written communication encompasses all aspects of reading and writing. Reading is constructing meaning from text by making inferences and interpretations. The process of reading is interactive and involves the reader's purpose for reading, the reader's prior knowledge and experience, as well as the author's techniques and effects. The ability to read and comprehend fiction and non-fiction is essential for the process of inquiry. Students need to be able to identify, synthesize and apply useful and relevant information from written text. When students engage or interact with the text, they make connections, reflect on feelings and actions, imagine themselves in another's situation, gain perspectives and develop empathy. Writing is a way of expressing ourselves. It allows us to develop, organize and communicate thoughts, feelings, ideas, opinions and information. Fiction and non-fiction in a variety of genres, for example, short stories, novels, biographies, autobiographies, diaries, letters, cartoons, graphic novels, poetry, song lyrics, drama, screenplays, advertisements, blogs, emails, websites, brochures, leaflets, editorials, interviews, magazine articles, reports, instructions and guidelines are all examples of text types with which students may engage in order to develop their written communication skills both as readers and writers. Note: The examples above do not constitute a definitive list, and teachers may wish to incorporate other text types into classroom practice. |
| Constructing meaning | Constructing meaning refers to creating an understanding about something; interpreting facts, an opinion, an idea or an event that has been read, viewed, listened to. The next step is to interact or engage with the text; this is when students relate the event or idea or experiences to their own experiences, ideas, opinions. It is hoped that students can empathize as a result of the understandings and insights gained. |
| Context | The constellation of events and situational factors (physical and others), both internal and external to a person, in which acts of communication are embedded (Council of Europe 2001). Interpersonal and cultural contexts are embedded in all communication between two or more people. The cultural contexts are the learned behaviours and rules that frame these interactions. In the early phases, the simple interpersonal and cultural contexts may include ways of greeting and forms of address, gestures, eye contact, body language and personal space considerations. In the later phases, they may include negotiating, solving problems, agreeing and disagreeing. |
| Continuum | A tool to identify and map a student's language development. A diagnostic tool to assist teachers in planning language learning experiences for students, and for monitoring and assessing their language development. Recognizing that learners enter the programme at different ages and with varying levels and domains of language experience, a sequence of development phases enables the teacher to identify current levels and plan learning experiences leading on to subsequent phases. |
| Critical literacy | The ability to question, challenge and evaluate the meanings and purposes of texts. The skills to compose, respond to, analyse and evaluate written, spoken, visual and multimedia texts from various perspectives. It involves an understanding of the ways in which values and attitudes are communicated through language, including how subject matter, point of view and language embody assumptions about issues such as culture, gender and ethnicity. |

| Term | Definition |
|--|---|
| Critical stance | A perspective or point of view taken by a reader or viewer. It involves the reader or viewer questioning the position presented in a text and developing his or her own ideas in response to the text. |
| Critical thinking | Specific cognitive skills, such as analysing and interpreting, used to consider ideas, arguments and points of view, and to reach a conclusion. |
| Digital text | Text read or viewed by electronic means. |
| Format | This is the text type. Examples of written formats are: magazine, letter, book, brochure, newspaper, chart, journal, email, text message. Examples of spoken text types are: performance, speech, radio report, TV programme, screencast. Examples of visual text types are: poster, magazine, website, postcard, brochure, gesture, sign, diagram, graph, film. |
| Genre | A style or category; types of literature can be categorized into fiction and non-fiction. |
| Graded readers | Fiction and non-fiction books that have been written specifically for language learners with scaffolded or modified plot, vocabulary, grammar and visual text to support the written text. |
| Grammar | The set of rules governing how words and their component parts combine to form sentences. In the MYP language subject groups, this encompasses word order, sentence structure, parts of speech, morphology, phonetics (as applicable to the language). |
| Infer | To go beyond information in a text to identify what may be thought, expressed or considered correct. |
| Language | Language refers to vocabulary and grammatical structures. It is assumed that as students move through the phases, they will use language that demonstrates increasing levels of sophistication and complexity. |
| Language conventions | Language conventions refer to the structures and features of a variety of texts and includes spelling, grammar and punctuation, sentence structure, paragraphing and format, and referencing style. In writing, format can be further defined to include purpose, sense of audience, text type (essay, short story, letter), structure and organization of the text. |
| Language of instruction | This is the language in which the majority of a school's curriculum is delivered. A school can have more than one language of instruction. |
| Literary and non-literary texts | In the MYP language subject groups, literary texts can include, but are not limited to, biographies, autobiographies, diaries and journals, poetry, song lyrics, fairy tales, fables and myths, prose (short stories and novels, including abridged and modified versions), cartoons, plays, graphic novels, screenplays. They can also include fiction and non-fiction genres such as letters, speeches, oral traditions, essays, drama, travelogues. Non-literary texts can include, but are not limited to, newspaper and magazine articles, advertisements, blogs, emails, websites, brochures, leaflets, editorials, interviews, reports, instructions, guidelines and other texts of an informational nature. |

| Term | Definition |
|--------------------------|---|
| Literature | The definition of literature varies between different cultures and languages. In most cultures, literature includes poetry, prose (short stories and novels), mythology and drama, and, in some cultures, literature also includes autobiography, biography, graphic novels, travelogues, satires, essays, letters, literary non-fiction, speeches, oral traditions, screenplays, film and television programmes, such as drama series. In the MYP language subject groups, literature can include all of the above, and schools need to determine what constitutes literature within the context of their language course(s). |
| Mode | The medium used to communicate the message: in written mode, on paper or in electronic format; in spoken mode, live or in electronic format; in visual mode, in electronic format, live or printed. |
| Mother tongue | The term “mother tongue” is used in the research literature in various ways. It may denote the language learned first and/or the language identified with as a “native” speaker. For the purpose of the MYP, “mother tongue” includes both these definitions, and describes the language that the student uses at home and/or outside the classroom environment. Those students whose mother tongue is not the language of instruction may study their mother tongue as their second language option. This course of study supports students to develop their mother tongue, sustain cognitive and academic development and maintain their cultural identity. |
| Multilingualism | A term used to describe complex, rich, dynamic language portraits that include a range of abilities/proficiencies in more than one language. |
| Multiliteracies | Engaging with text in multimodal ways to construct meaning. Multiliteracies provide a bridge between the real-life texts of the community and school texts, and encourage a real-world, interdisciplinary approach to learning through the use of disciplined knowledge. Using a multiliteracies approach enables students to understand, use and critically evaluate the multimodal texts of the current generation. These complex texts incorporate elements of linguistic, visual, spatial, audio and gestural design. |
| Multimodal text | A text in which meaning is constructed and presented/represented in multiple ways, for example, written and/or visual text (such as in a cartoon, website, TV programme, graphic novel, advertisement, poster, music video, magazine). |
| Oracy | The ability to speak, and to understand spoken language. |
| Oratory technique | A combination of pronunciation, intonation, tone, pitch, inflection, pace, pausing, voice control, volume, projection, body language, gesture and eye contact (as applicable to the language being studied). |
| Phase | A stage of language learning development as indicated by a standard or proficiency reached. Phases 1 to 6 on the language learning continuum do not directly correspond to the years of study in the MYP or to the age of students in the programme. |
| Print-based text | Text read or viewed by paper means. |
| Proficient | Able to use a discrete skill successfully, in context, according to established criteria. |

| Term | Definition |
|-----------------------------|--|
| Pronunciation | Clarity of articulation, not accent. |
| Register | The use of tone, pace, volume, pitch, inflection, fluency/fluidity, vocabulary, grammar and sentence structure that give the correct degree of formality appropriate for the specific context and audience. In some languages there will be more levels of register than just “formal” and “informal”. |
| Sense of audience | Sense of audience is linked to register. This refers to tone, vocabulary, grammar and sentence structure, and their appropriateness for the situation. |
| Situation | Situation refers to the context in which the communication takes place or the purpose of the communication; it may refer to the linguistic, social or cultural time and place. Everyday situations include classroom routines and activities, family life and home routines. Familiar situations include topics of more personal concern or interest; students will have the knowledge, the language and the experience to communicate more confidently about these personal world-type topics, which may be ideas or issues. Unfamiliar situations include contexts beyond the scope explored through the unit; students may have more limited knowledge and experience of these contexts, which will require language learned to be applied to a new situation or idea. The language required may also be more abstract. This may include global challenges and more globally significant ideas. Rehearsed and unrehearsed refers to structured or practised models or frameworks, for example, a dialogue or role-play format. In any interaction, the student is expected to speak with spontaneity. Social situations may be in the classroom, the playground, the home, participating in a drama, a role play or dialogue, an interview, a celebration. Academic situations may include listening, note taking, participating in a lecture, a presentation, a discussion, a debate, making a speech, conducting a survey or interview, giving an oral response to literature or giving a report or review of a book read or a film viewed, participating in group work and projects. This list is not exhaustive but serves to help teachers when planning learning experiences and assessment tasks. |
| Style | Style refers to the manner in which the author of the text has used language to suit his or her purpose or intention. This can include the author’s use of vocabulary, grammar, register, syntactical elements and literary devices. |
| Target language | The language being studied. |
| Text | A visual, oral or written construct. For the purposes of MYP language acquisition, a text may be written, viewed or spoken, and may or may not include graphic or pictorial information. Text types can be informational or literary, for example, speeches, letters, cartoons, advertisements, news reports, magazine and newspaper articles, short and long prose, and so on. |
| Transitional devices | Structures, systems or words used to connect and organize ideas, with the effect of guiding the reader through a text. What is considered as appropriate structure or convention will be dependent on the language. |

| Term | Definition |
|--------------------------|---|
| Viewed | Able to be seen, shown or looked at for display, scrutiny or critical consideration. |
| Visual context | The purpose(s) for and situation(s) in which the text has been created or is read. For example, the social and cultural features and factors of the text. Where and why is it viewed and interpreted? What factors influence the understanding and interpretation of the visual text in combination with the spoken and/or written text? Does the visual text communicate a message, add meaning or explanation, or offer a perspective on a topic? |
| Visual convention | The structures, features, layout and design elements of visual text. It can include the use of colour, texture, line, shape and form, symbolism, sound effects and music, body language, special effects, costume, camera angles and movement. |
| Visual literacy | For the purposes of MYP language acquisition, visual literacy is not limited to modern mass media and new technologies. It can refer as much to reading signs and symbols as graphic novels. Visual literacy is the ability to evaluate, apply or create conceptual visual representations, and to understand the knowledge that is communicated by the visual. |
| Visual text | Any text that includes an image or a series of static or moving images, for example, a sign, symbol, poster, brochure, CD or book cover, newspaper article with pictures, website, film, TV programme, PowerPoint® presentation. In MYP language acquisition, visual text is viewed together with oral and/or written text to interpret, analyse and evaluate information, ideas, opinions, emotions and attitudes presented. |
| World literature | In the MYP, this refers to literature from different parts of the world, cross-cultural works and/or works in translation, each of which clearly shows diverse cultures. |

MYP command terms for language acquisition

The table below illustrates some of the most commonly used command terms in MYP language acquisition.

| Term | Definition |
|--------------------------|--|
| Analyse | Break down in order to bring out the essential elements or structure. To identify parts and relationships, and interpret information to reach conclusions. |
| Construct meaning | Create an understanding about something; infer and interpret facts, an opinion, an idea or an event that has been read, viewed, listened to. |
| Evaluate | Assess the implications and limitations; make judgments about the ideas, works, solutions or methods in relation to selected criteria. |
| Identify | Provide an answer from a number of possibilities; recognize and state briefly a distinguishing fact or feature. |
| Interpret | Use knowledge and understanding to recognize trends and draw conclusions from given information. |
| Recognize | Identify through patterns or features. |
| Synthesize | Combine different ideas in order to create new understanding. |
| Understand | Comprehend the meaning or significance of something and explain it in a different way. |

A complete list of the command terms used in the MYP can be found in the document MYP: From principles into practice (May 2014).

Selected reading

- American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages. 2011. Standards for Foreign Language Learning in the 21st Century. Third edition. Alexandria, Virginia, USA. ACTFL.
- Christie, F and Derewianka, B. 2008. School Discourse. London, UK. Continuum International Publishing Group.
- Council of Europe. 2001. Common European Framework of Reference for Languages: Learning, Teaching, Assessment. Cambridge, UK. Cambridge University Press.
- Council of Europe. Autobiography of Intercultural Encounters. <http://www.coe.int/lang-autobiography>.
- Council of Europe. From linguistic diversity to plurilingual education: Guide for the development of language education policies in Europe. http://www.coe.int/t/dg4/linguistic/Guide_niveau2_EN.asp?
- Cummins, J. 2000. Language, Power and Pedagogy. Clevedon, UK. Multilingual Matters.
- Edwards, V. 2009. Learning to be Literate: Multilingual Perspectives. Clevedon, UK. Multilingual Matters.
- Ellis, R. 1994. The Study of Second Language Acquisition. Oxford, UK. Oxford University Press.
- Ellis, R. 2005. "Principles of instructed language learning". Asian EFL Journal. Vol 7, number 3. Pp 9–24.
- Evans, D, Griffiths, A, Stokes, D and Tuckey, J. 2008a. First Steps Viewing Map of Development. Perth, Western Australia. Department of Education and Training.
- Evans, D, Griffiths, A, Stokes, D and Tuckey, J. 2008b. First Steps Linking Assessment, Teaching and Learning. Perth, Western Australia. Department of Education and Training.
- Halliday, M. 1985. Three Aspects of Children's Language Development: Learning Language, Learning through Language, Learning about Language. Unpublished manuscript. Sydney, Australia. University of Sydney, Department of Linguistics.
- Hammill Institute on Disabilities. 2009. "Multiliteracies: Beyond reading and writing". Word of Mouth. Vol 21, number 2. Pp 1–16.
- Hu, A and Byram, M, (eds). 2009. Intercultural Competence and Foreign Language Learning. Clevedon, UK. Multilingual Matters.
- Johnson, K. 2009. Second Language Teacher Education: A Sociocultural Perspective. New York, New York, USA. Routledge.
- Kramsch, C. 1993. Context and Culture in Language Teaching. Oxford, UK. Oxford University Press.
- Krashen, SD. Second Language Acquisition and Second Language Learning. 1981. Pergamon Press Inc. Internet edition December 2002. http://www.sdkrashen.com/SL_Acquisition_and_Learning.
- Lanning, LA. 2013. Designing a Concept-based Curriculum for English Language Arts: Meeting the Common Core With Intellectual Integrity, K-12. London, UK. Corwin.

Savignon, S. 1983. Communicative Competence: Theory and Classroom Practice. Reading, Massachusetts, USA. Addison Wesley.

Shen, HH. 2010. "Imagery and verbal coding approaches in Chinese vocabulary instruction". Language Teaching Research. Vol 14, number 4. Pp 485–99.

Unsworth, L. 2001. Teaching Multiliteracies Across the Curriculum. Maidenhead, UK. Open University Press.

Vygotsky, L. 1999. Thought and Language. Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA. The MIT Press.

Whittaker, R, O'Donnell, M and McCabe, A, (eds). 2006. Language and Literacy: Functional Approaches. London, UK. Continuum International Publishing Group.